FOREWORD

AS the passing years have carried the rich colorful life of the American Indians from stern reality into the more picturesque aspects of history and legend—a transformation typified by the great Chief Massasoit—so also have we, the editors of this book, sought to mold into an everlasting chronicle, the actual college life of modern Springfield

A RELIGIOUS AND CULTURAL CENTER
INTERNATIONAL Y.M.C.A. COLLEGE

There is nothing of worth in the entire world that does not begin as a dream, develop according to a well-laid plan, and find its expression in useful reality. Such has been the development of Springfield. In this imposing study of college architecture we see a dream taking definite shape, which, in the course of a few short years, will stand upon the banks of Massasoit, a final tribute to the effort and sacrifice of those who have made it possible.

W. R. FENSTEMACHER

The Senior Legend

THE last chapter of our story is well nigh completed. In a short time we, the traditionally staid seniors, will cast aside part of our characteristic stoicism. And not without good reason. In less time than is desired for a comfortable state of mind, we will be digressing from the well trodden paths of the past four years and branching out into our respective fields of endeavor.

We try to comfort ourselves and ask, "What matters that?" In the four years which we have spent at Springfield we have been gathering and storing up, and shortly will come the test of whether we have gathered diligently and stored wisely.

Contrary to all outward appearances, our minds are in a turmoil. At times there are flashbacks during which we see green ties, freshman caps, class seraps, our ancient sophomore superiority, the first vestiges of the dignity of upperclassmen. A sense of growing importance too, as some of the more adept and able earned places on varsity teams and were elected to offices in the student government, the passing out of office, and now—that interminable wait.

At odd times we have attempted to peep into the future. We have looked, with trepidation and shorn of our lordly mantle; we did not feel so coeky then. But already into our hearts and minds there is slowly creeping a steady assurance. We have not built the foundations of our structures on sand, and the materials used were tested and sound. And as we close this, the last chapter of our story, in our breasts are mingled feelings. Sadness on leaving behind the life we have learned to love, but dominating all, a new sense of power and a readiness to go out and achieve. And so, faculty, the student body, and our good old campus, we bid thee adieu.

The Sophomore Legend

WE are on our way, one-half lies behind, one-half before. We cherish the past and hope for the future. That which lies behind has earned a hearty "Well done" from both our much respected faculty and helpful Upperclassmen. That which lies ahead, if read in terms of the past, holds a glorious future and one full of promise. Our class is a unit, "One for All, All for One." We are building our future now.

May we be pardoned for pointing to our fine athletic record with just pride. Our scholastic achievements, our social activities, our united efforts and our spirit along all lines of endeavor have been highly commendable. The teams of Springfield will feel the "pep" of the Class of '33 for two more years. Our classmates are gradually taking over important positions in the student government and other extra-curricular activities.

In the traditional interclass scraps between the Frosh and the Sophomores we have a record that is unsmirched by so much as a single defeat. Proud we are of our husky rope-pullers and class footballers. There is a mark for future classes to shoot at, set by the Class of '33.

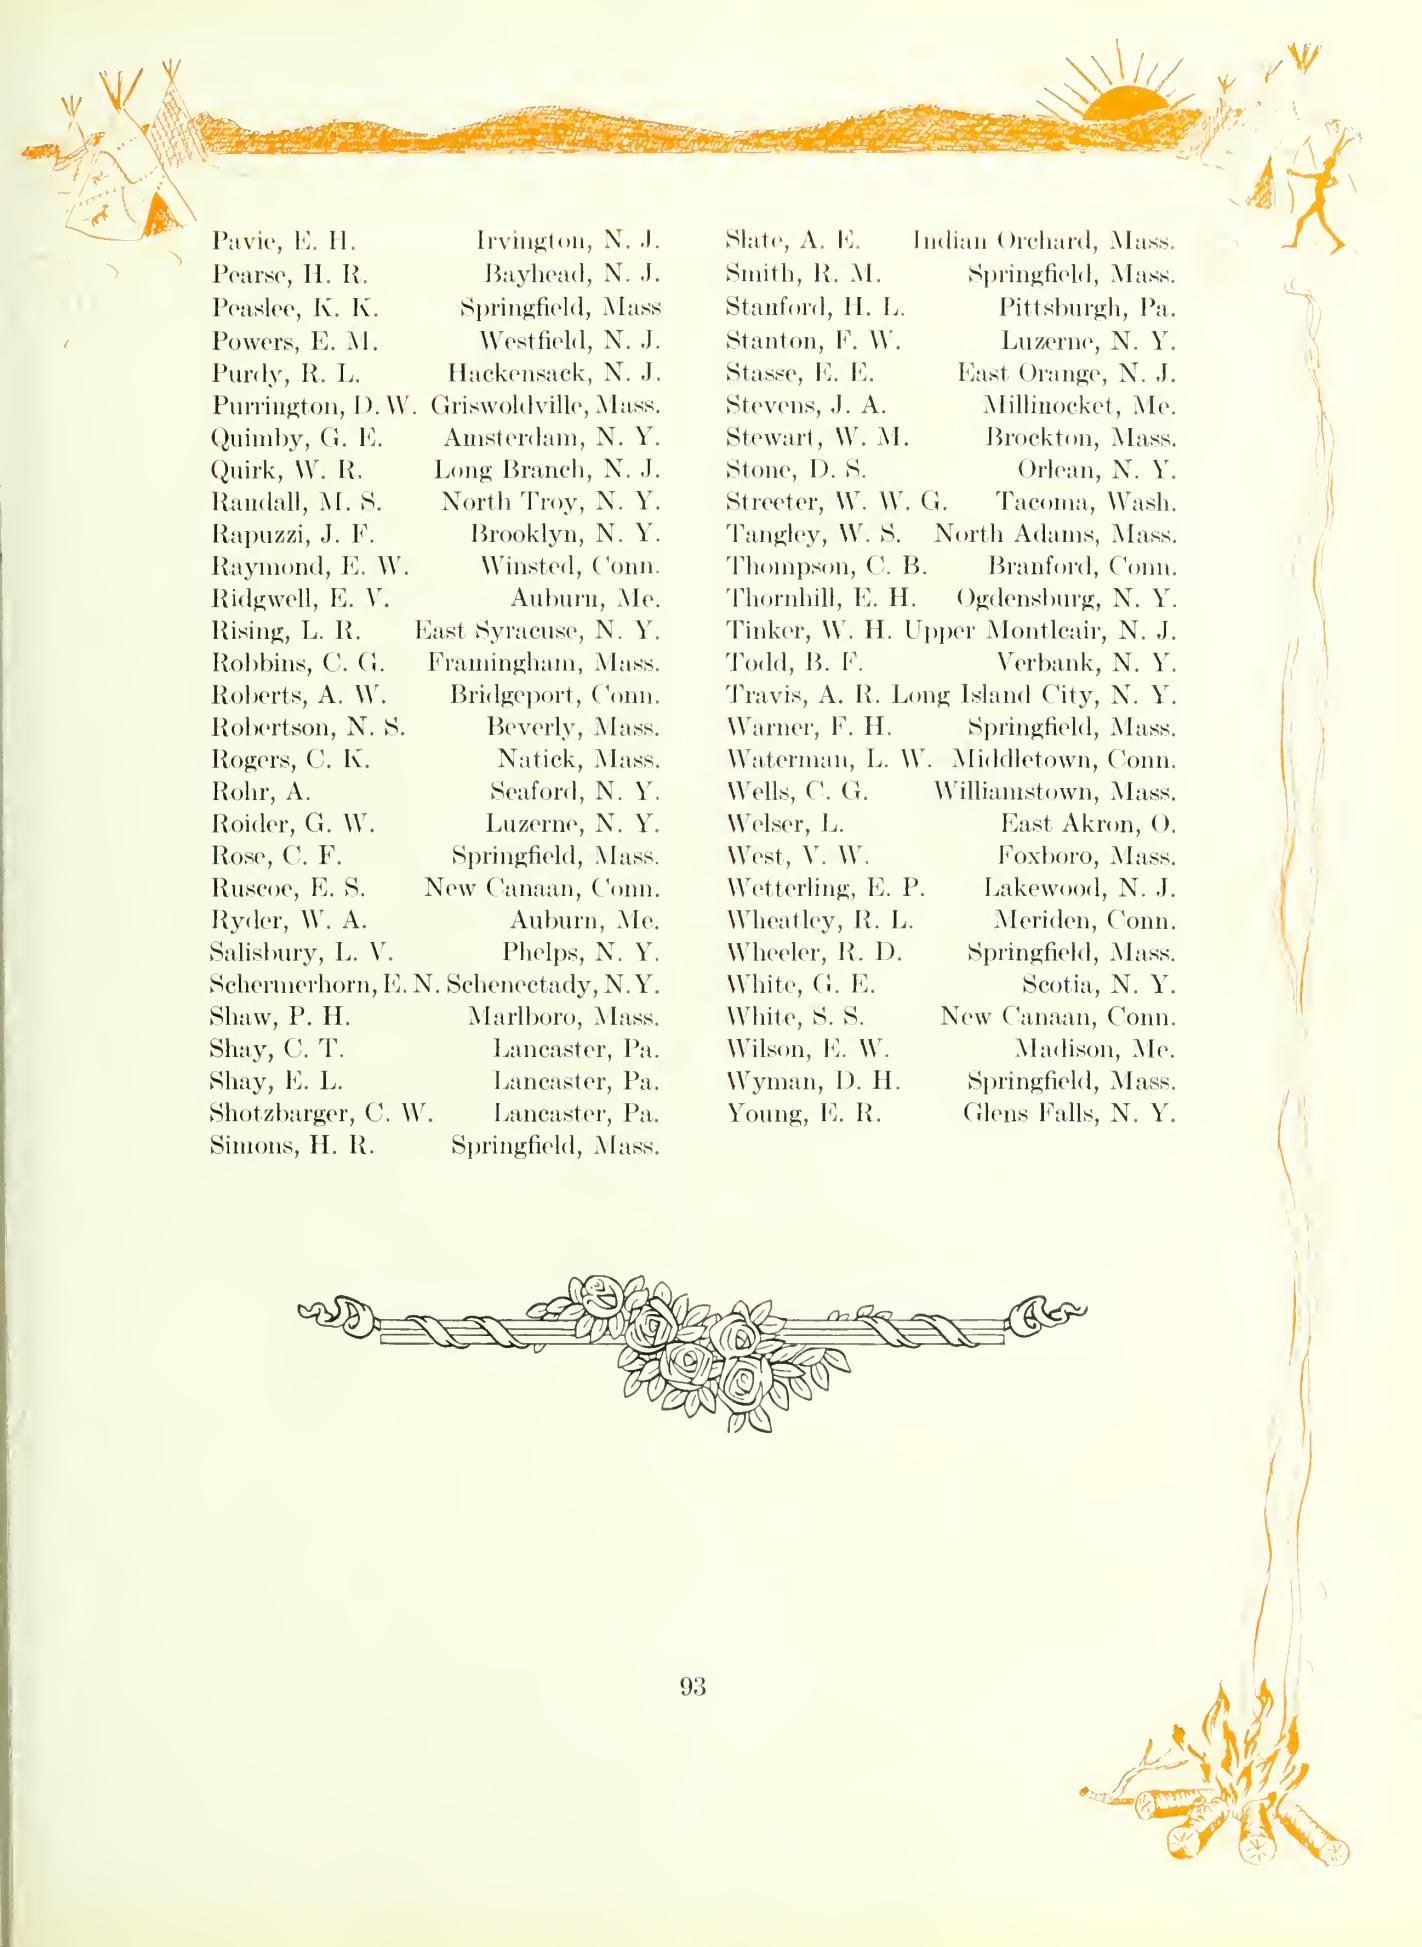

Years seem to have passed since our initiation chastisement at the capable hands of the Sophomores and Upperclassmen. Those days seem to be lost in the dim distance, seem to have been fulfilled in a former reincarnation. No more traditions, customs, rules and regulations to halt our footsteps toward the broad and complete education that our Alma Mater has to offer. Remembering our own period of humility we hope to make Springfield bigger and better, broader and finer for all classes entering and graduating.

We are ambitious for Springfield and hope to leave our mark indelibly written across the pages of her history. May good fortune be ever with us as we march on our way.

The Freshman Legend

AND it came to pass that in the year of our Lord, nineteen hundred and thirty, there entered into the land of Springfield College, the Tribe of '34, their ambitious band numbering seven score and seven.

Moreover, in the very beginning of their journey, they called council and they took unto themselves Junior Brothers who were to lead them along the paths of Friendship.

And on the sixth day of this Freshman Week, they did journey many miles into the hills and viewed the splendors of Massachusetts from the summit of Mt. Tom.

And then straightway, on the twenty-second day of the ninth month, did they begin their march into the Wilderness of Knowledge with Smith as their leader.

And it came to pass that on the eighth day of the tenth month, demon Initiation clasped the tribe within her clutches and did render it humble before its masters. These same masters did cause them to walk through the rear doors of the dormitories, to stand themselves in trolleys, and in other ways to act foolish.

When it came to athletic contests, it was the Tribe of '33 that excelled in the traditional class scrapes. But the Tribe of '34 was undismayed.

And lo! the hours grew into days and the days into weeks. And as the weeks passed the tribe grew in wisdom and in favor. In due course, when the twelfth day of the twelfth month had arrived, the tribe had completed the first lap of its journey and they broke ranks to visit Vacation Valley.

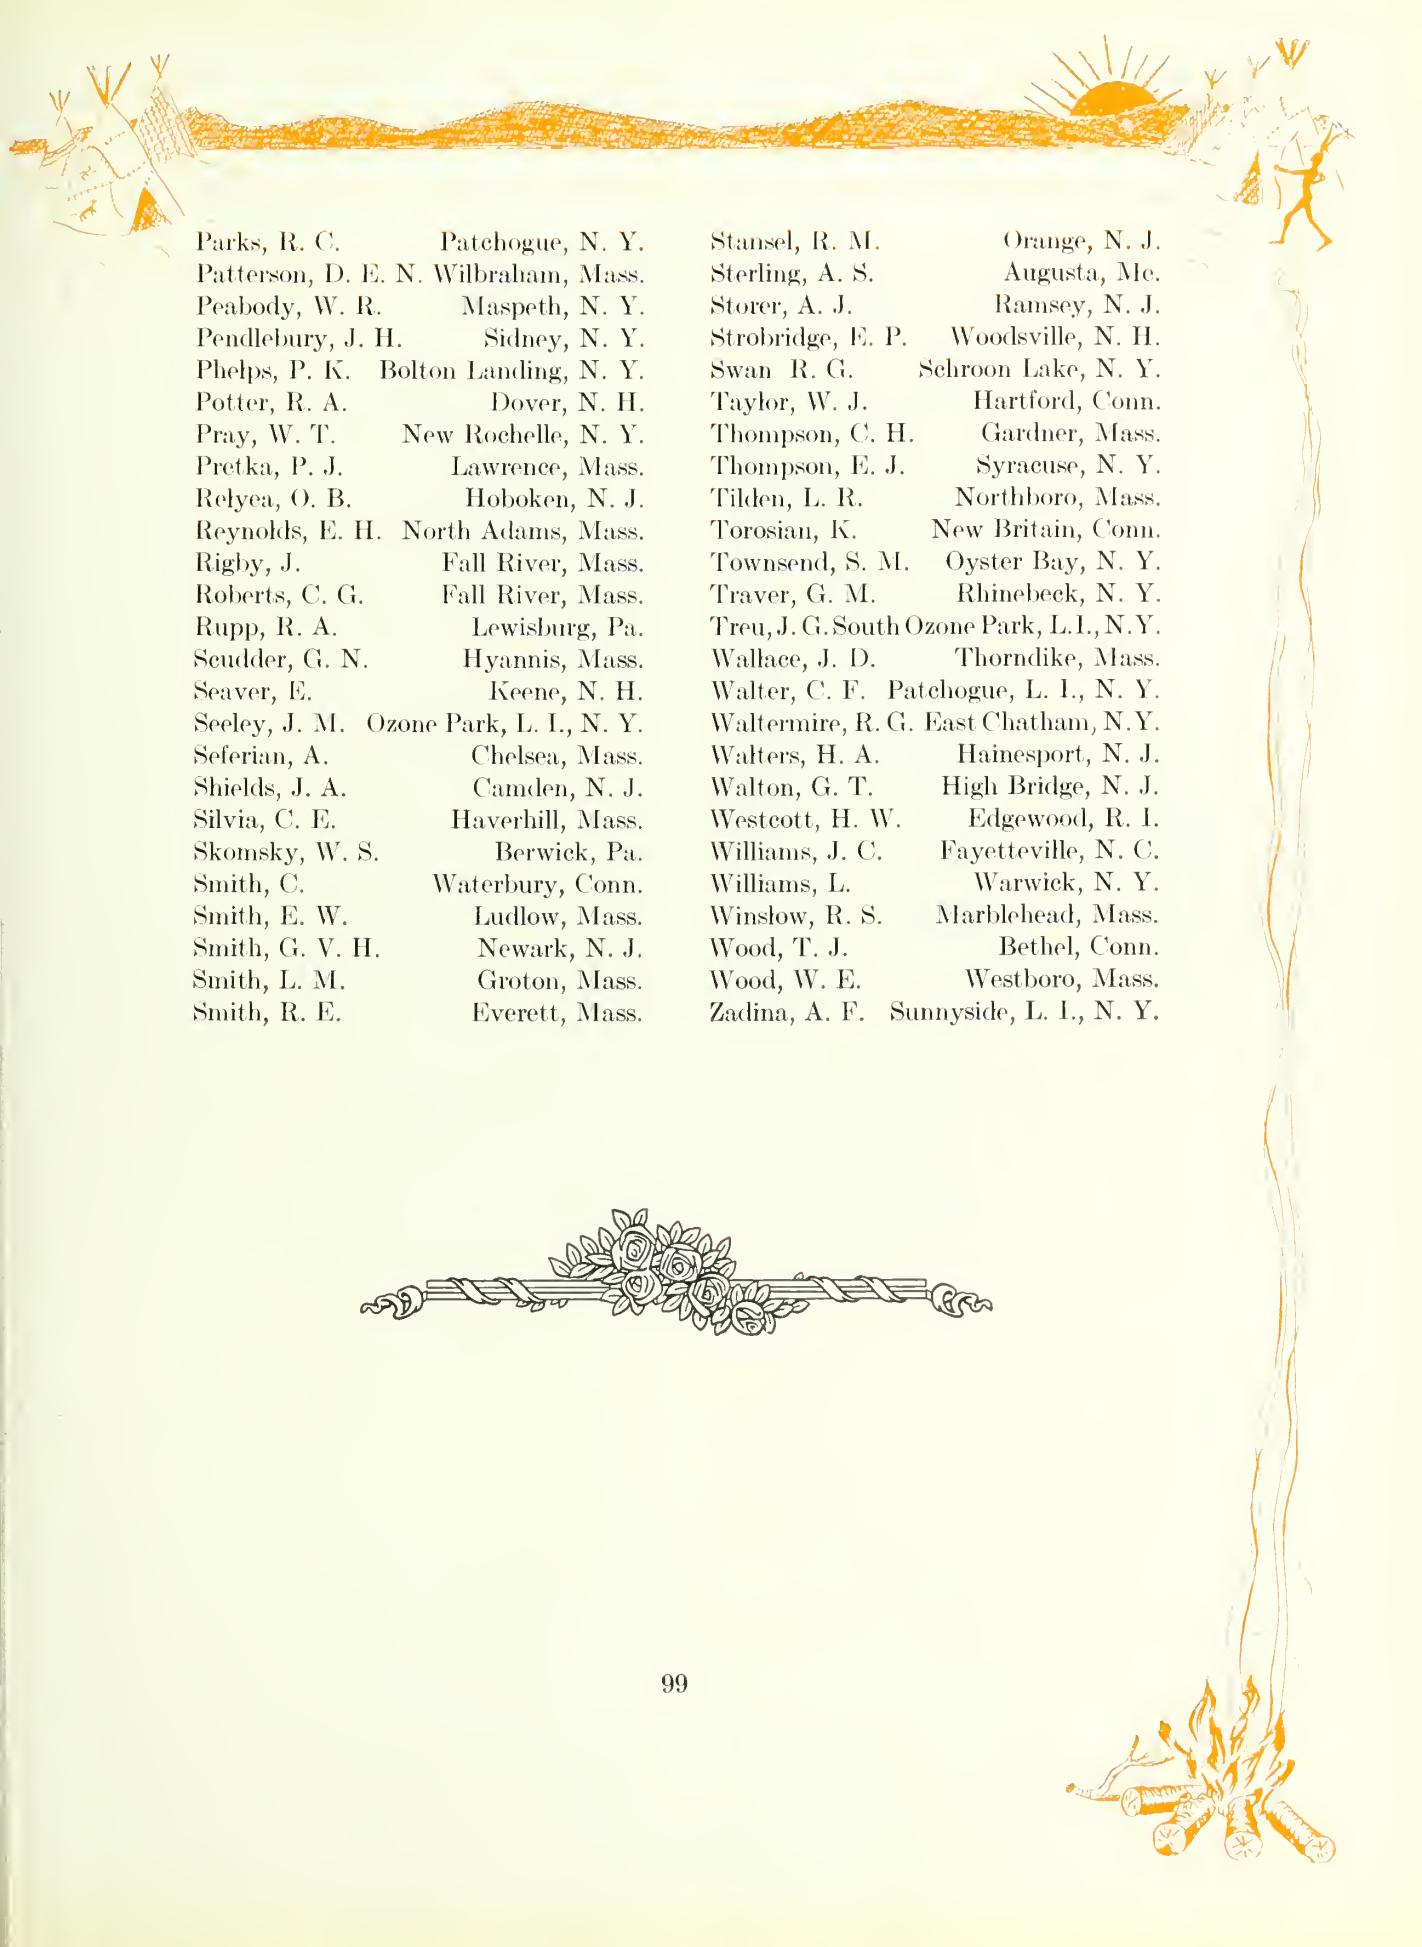

And it so came about that at the very beginning of the New Year, the tribe resumed its journey with Makepeace as its leader. And the band was reduced in number to six score and ten.

Thus far runneth the tale of the Tribe of '34. They march further into the Wilderness of Knowledge with the hope of some day being able to ascend the high Mountain of Learning where they may stand and gaze into the Promised Land of the Future.

THE Student Association at Springfield College holds a unique place in the field of student government. Every activity, every function, every detail of campus life is under its supervision and control.

The sole purpose of this organization is to hold the traditions of the college before the men and maintain the spirit that has made Springfield famous. The department of athletics is perhaps the greatest task which has been taken on in its whole history. While other colleges have athletic councils controlled by alumni, Springfield has organized this department as a part of its own association under the entire control of students.

This cooperative plan of carrying on all the activities in the various phases of student life has been most successful.

One of the outstanding achievements of the organization this year is the development of a soda fountain in Woods Hall.

The Executive Departments are the Cabinet, the Senate, the Congress and the House Committee, all of which are made up of students chosen annually by the entire student body at a general election. All final authority over these departments is left in the hands of the Faculty Student Advisory Council and the President of the College.

THE Advisory Council consists of the President of the College, the President and the General Secretary of the Student Association, three members of the faculty approved by the President of the College and the Cabinet, and four upper classmen approved by the President of the Student Association and the Cabinet.

This body acts as the final court of appeal in all controversies between different Student Association departments and between students and faculty. It helps to bring closer cooperation between the college faculty and the student body.

THE Cabinet is the executive, administrative body of the association, promoting and supervising all extra-curricular campus activities. The members, consisting of a President, Vice President, Secretary, Treasurer, ten committee chairmen, the President of the Senate and General Secretary, meet each week to handle the affairs of the Association.

The committee chairmen are given budget appropriations with which to conduct their specialized committee programs, each of which works with a committee in promoting his particular activity.

THE Senate is the official, judicial and legislative body, seeking to act as a mediator between the students and the faculty in matters of collegiate importance. It provides standards of conduct for all men on campus.

The work of this body is not alone confined to the Senate chamber. The Senators are obliged to interview men personally and suggest to them changes of conduct that will be in keeping with the traditions of the college. This is not always realized by some of the students. It is the belief of some that the Senators are nothing more than law enforcers, but a wise student realizes that the Senate is working for his interests as well as for those of the college.

Five Seniors and four Juniors compose the membership of this organization, being elected annually in the winter term by the entire student enrollment.

The Congress

THE Student Congress, presided over by the President of the Student Association, is a representative body of men elected by the Student Association in a legislative capacity.

Congress is composed of ten percent of the student body, being divided among the classes so that the seniors have forty percent, the juniors thirty percent, the sophomores twenty, and the freshmen ten. These men are chosen by their classes after the Student Association elections. The freshmen congressmen make up the four officers of the freshman cabinet.

The purpose of this group is to create campus traditions and to act on all matters bearing influentially upon the student body except those of personal student conduct.

THE Physical Committee of Springfield is similar to the Athletic Council of other colleges, being composed of a chairman and six members elected by the student body.

It supervises all varsity, Junior Varsity and Freshman Varsity teams and conducts all inter-class sports, operating on a budget appropriated by the Student Association. Not only does this committee appoint all managers, grant all emblems, and control the wearing of letters and numerals, but it also determines the eligibility of men wishing to participate in athletics.

Freshman Week Committee

FRESHMAN Week has been developed at Springfield with the idea of helping each Freshman to make his adjustment to the demands of college life easier and more effective. Since 1927 each entering class has come to college a week earlier than the rest of the student body in order to accomplish this. During this week the Freshmen take their psychological, physical and English examinations. They secure their class schedule, complete registration, and follow through necessary administrative steps incident to induction. In general meetings held in Wood's Hall and in group meetings under upperclass leaders information and help is made available. The question of rooms, employment, traditions of the college, campus activities, organizations and the multitude of concerns in college life are discussed. During the week opportunity for recreation and sports is offered. The week culminates with the Mountain Day trip in which the men get better acquainted and complete their class organization.

The innovation in the 1930 procedure was the organizing of the class into groups of ten or twelve men with an upperclass leader selected on the basis of his ability and personality. This provided an opportunity for an exchange of the deeper levels of experience between upperclassmen and Freshmen.

Store Committee

C. L. WALKER '31 Chairman

THIS committee has charge of all campus concessions, the tendency being to avoid monopoly as far as possible. The committee, however, reserves the right to limit the number of concessions as it sees fit, and has the power to cancel a concession if necessary.

The committee every year appoints a manager, an assistant manager, and a clerk, who operate the Student Store. Every day of the week, except Sunday, the store is open for business during convenient hours, and the daily mail delivery is distributed at the store office. Practically every Student necessity is available, and by operating on a cost-plus basis, the store can furnish the college men with merchandise at a reduced price.

THE policy of The Student is twofold; first, it must report faithfully the happenings among the students, faculty, and alumni, maintaining always that a short story truthfully reported is better than a long article glossed by the imagination. Second, it must increase the students' knowledge of the problems of the campus, and of other colleges, at the same time creating a spirit of greater cooperation and understanding among the students and administration.

Two important changes in the "Student" this year have been the transfer of its publication date from Friday to Wednesday, and its affiliation last spring with the Eastern Intercollegiate Newspaper Association.

THE Committee fosters all of the musical activities on the campus such as the Glee Club, Concert Orchestra, Symphony Orchestra, Band, and Dance Orchestra.

A joint faculty music committee aids the student committee in the promotion of musical entertainments on campus. It was through the notable work of the chairman of this committee that the Glee Club members will be given two semester hour's credit for their work. There has been a marked improvement in all the musical activities of the college this year due to the strenuous efforts of the Committee. The loss of A. B. Smith by graduation in June will be preceptably noticed since he has devoted four years of commendable work to building up the Maroon and White Serenaders into a first-class dance orchestra.

THE Glee Club has had another very successful season, and from the standpoint of various audiences it has far surpassed any other Springfield organization of its kind.

The harmonizers have appeared in a number of concerts throughout Massachusetts and neighboring states. An evening at the Springfield City Auditorium and the home concert on February 27th gave people of the vicinity an opportunity to hear the singers first hand.

Much credit is due Mr. Woodbury for his continued interest in directing and training the men and the efficient way in which he has conducted the concerts. Credit is also due the members for their unfailing interest in supporting the club in its many rehearsals and concerts.

The Band

THE opening of the school year in September found Wally Dow '32 rounding into shape the group that did so much in making last year's football games successful. This year forty-two men answered the call just doubling the size of Springfield's 1929 band.

A great deal of credit should go to Dow for his efforts in securing a sum of money sufficient to equip the Band with their new uniforms. The student body also contributed a noticeable sum toward the success of their music corps.

Dramatics Committee

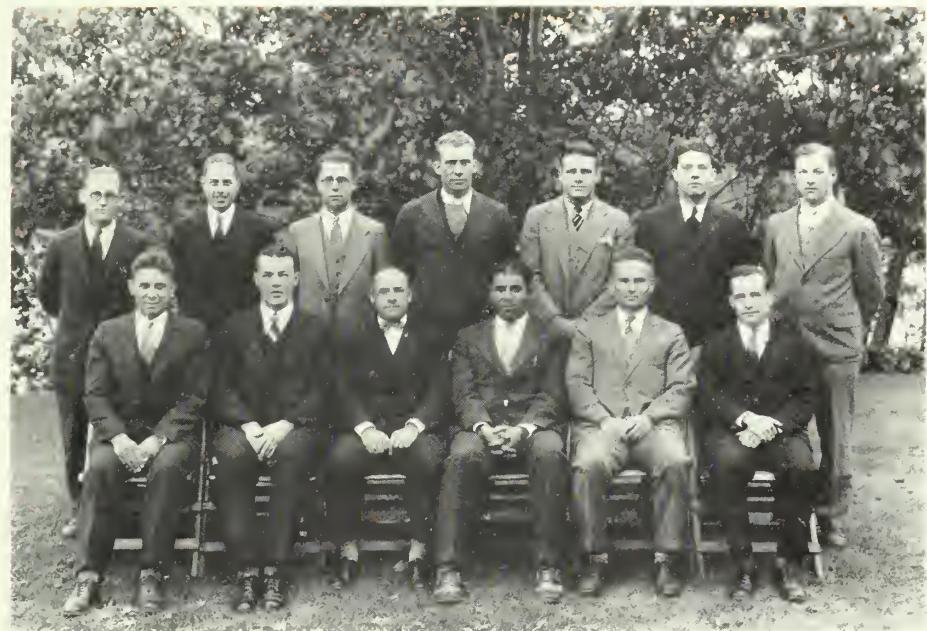

THIS year's dramatic work has undoubtedly been a tremendous success in the developing of actors, and in making a definite contribution to the college's cultural activities. Most of the credit for the success of dramatics at Springfield goes to Mr. William Thornton Simpson whose fine directing has made many plays possible.

A group of one-act plays presented in the winter term marked the first of this year's stage successes; it was followed toward the end of the same term by another evening of short one-act productions.

THE 1930 COMMENCEMENT PLAY

The outstanding dramatic event of the 1930 spring season was the Commencement play presented in the Carlisle Foyer during graduation week. Charles F. Weekwerth '31, who played the leading role, did an admirable bit of acting. He was assisted by other members of the Junior and Senior classes and by ladies from the Players' Guild, whose powdered wigs, and gowns of rustling silk gave an ideal atmosphere suggesting ancient English courts, with lords and ladies and footmen-in-waiting.

It is directed by Professor Frank M. Mohler, who is well adapted for this position by virtue of his many years of study in Europe.

The aim of the Club is to bring together students of all nationalities for their mutual benefit and to promote friendly relations between the American students on campus and those from abroad.

EAH year two Juniors are chosen for this scholarship by a board composed of faculty, students and executives, the basis of choice being social and scholastic qualities, linguistic ability and camping experience.

The men sent this year under the full scholarship were John G. Scherlacher and Charles Erdman, while two other of their classmates, Lloyd Batchelder and John Chambers, took advantage of the semi-scholarship offer. These four men spend their Junior year in the "Springfield at Geneva," a sister college located in Geneva, Switzerland. Practically the same curriculum is followed, though in a totally different environment, where the possibility of travel and the experiences of European living adds both color and cultural background to the lives of the students.

After spending the summer as counselors in some boys' camp in Europe, the men return to complete their college course in Springfield. This scholarship plan, under the direction of Professor Mohler, has been quite successfully carried out for the past few years, helping not only the men who are sent abroad, but those group and individuals with whom they come into contact.

Dr. Wiesle, a member of the Springfield faculty, is acting as club advisor.

The function of this group is to greet and act as hosts to incoming teams and visitors at Springfield. The club slogan, "Ask a Key Man," signifies the essential purpose of these well informed "knights of the campus."

WITH the departure of the snow from South Field, Coach DeGroat sent out a rally call for baseball aspirants. The call was favorably met by the report of eight veteran ball-tossers and a wealth of reserve material.

The promising elements of Mother Nature gave Coach a splendid opportunity to organize his crew of spirited ball-tossers before the time arrived for the DeGroatmen to be pitted against the college and university teams of North Carolina in their five-game southern trip.

This five-game series, characterized by the playing of an unacclimated outfit, resulted in one win and four losses. Elon fell before the onslaught of the Maroon and White team by a score of 6 to 5 in the first game on the southern pilgrimage. The following day Lenoir Rhyne rudely upset our own team by batting out ten runs to the visitor's five. The University of North Carolina was the next opponent and they certainly made the Springfield outfit look off-color by trimming them 18 to 7. In the two final games of the southern trip, the Springfield College team was defeated by two runs in both games; first, losing to Wake Forest by a 6 to 4 count, and then ending the series by being on the short end of a 7 to 5 count against Duke University. The team returned home undaunted in spirit, nevertheless, and determined to start off the home season in proper form.

The regular season opened April 12 against the C.C.N.Y. team. The local team easily showed their superiority here by trouncing their opponents 11 to 1. In the next game the Maroon and White took Boston University's measure by eking out a 6 to 5 win. The Springfield team won their next four successive games by, first, leaving Vermont on the short end of a 4 to 2 score; then, the local boys piled up 4 runs to Massachusetts Aggie's 1 in the next game; following this contest, the DeGroatmen beat Middlebury 7 to 6 in a close game; our boys then went on a batting spree to pile up 9 runs to 4 for the Connecticut Aggie team. After this sixth game the winning streak was broken by Wesleyan, who took over the Springfield outfit with a 7 to 2 score. The Maroon and White boys again jumped back into the winning column by taking into camp their next three opponents; first, beating Tufts 6 to 4, then Arnold 16 to 4, and the U. S. Naval Training School 15 to 6. Then the DeGroatmen went into a slump, losing the next six consecutive games to Boston University, Amherst, Vermont, Middlebury, and twice to St. Michaels. Our boys, now thoroughly aroused, came through in the final game of the season by beating the Connecticut Aggie outfit again with a 2 to 1 score.

The infield, composed of Capt. Bigsbee, Woods, Becker, and Miller, did a fine piece of work throughout the season well supported by Graham, Blesh, Davidson, and Seewagen at the outfield posts. Sterling Lipp was the outstanding pitcher of the season but some of the others who did a notable piece of work in the box were Johnson, Bogardus, and Thompson.

Four of the old reliables had played their last for Springfield in the Connecticut Aggie game. Capt. Bigsbee, Blesh, Woods, and Lipp will all be missing from the 1931 combination. These men have played splendid ball during their time with the Springfield outfit and will certainly be missed in the next season's line-up.

Some of the outstanding events of the season were as follows: the team won 10 out of the 17 games on the regular schedule, winning 9 of the first 10 games played. Davidson led the batting column, being closely followed by Bigsbee and Beeker. Bigsbee in his last seven times at bat drove out four triples and one double. Woods led the Springfield combine in home runs with a total of three for the season.

VARSITY RELAY TEAM
WILLIAMS OTTAWAY AMANN JAEGER ANDERSON ROTHACHER

Varsity Track

DURING the past season, Coach Jack Rothacher has enjoyed one of the best showings in recent years, the team record reading three wins and one defeat in dual meets, a win in the Eastern Intercollegiates, and a fourth in the Penn Relays.

The season opened April 25 against a surprisingly strong Wesleyan team with Springfield reaping a victory by a 71 to 64 score. Three new school records characterized this closely contested meet; Bryant broke the shot put record adding more than a foot to the previous one held by Geesman; Footrick, a sophomore, broke the existing javelin record with a throw of 177 ft. 5 inches; while Jones of Wesleyan cleared the high jump bar at 6 ft. 2 in. to set the third record. Booker and Bennett were outstanding in the track events with two first places each. Wilcox, a Wesleyan trackster, showed his metal by a double win in the 100 and 220-yard sprints.

After taking part in their events at Wesleyan, the relay team, composed of Amann, Ottaway, Jaeger, and Anderson, left for Philadelphia where they represented the college in the annual Penn Relay Carnival. The competition there facing the college quartet included Boston University, Howard, Rutgers, and Colgate. Every man ran a good race and fought hard, coming out at the tape with fourth place.

Next followed the meet with Northeastern University and a more spectacular competition could not have been provided for the Junior Prom guests. Every event was closely contested with first one team leading and then the other, changing to the favor of each team after nearly every event, with the final score going down at $69\frac{1}{2}$ to $65\frac{1}{2}$ in favor of the Rothacher men. Three local records were smashed as the Springfield aggregation checked the Northeastern's winning streak of ten straight dual meets: Bryant again overthrew his shot record, while Northeastern men broke records in both the javelin throw and the high hurdles. Meanwhile, Falt of Northeastern and Captain Bennett of Springfield were very much in prominence as the only two double winners.

Close upon the heels of the Northeastern meet came the time for the New England Intercollegiates with the possibility of winning a third leg on the titular trophy and thus gaining permanent possession of the cup, emblematic of the championship. It was not an exceptional Springfield track team that traveled to Worcester to compete in the Intercollegiates, but the spirit with which the Maroon and White athletes threw themselves into the meet gave them a well-earned first place with a total of $51\frac{1}{2}$ points. Bennett, for the second time in two years, performed the noteworthy feat of taking first in both the mile and two mile events. Footrick set a new meet record by gathering another first place for the Rothachermen in a javelin throw of 190 ft. The other point gatherers were Amann, Booker, Ottoway, Babcock, Andersson, Geesman, Bryant, Cooley, Matteson, Simonson, and Elerin all of whom played a big part in the Springfield victory.

In the contest with St. Johns the Springfield tracksters met with very little opposition and won in easy fashion by a score of 106 to 11. Those that witnessed the meet realized that not only did St. Johns have the weaker team, but that Coach Rothacher had a powerful aggregation of track and field men.

The Varsity track team tasted defeat for the first time during the season when they lost to New Hampshire in the final meet by a score of 82 to 53. In all fairness to the Wildcats it must be admitted that they had an excellent team, but had the Rothachermen been up to their usual performance, Springfield could undoubtedly have claimed a season of straight successes.

J. C. READY, Captain

Varsity Lacrosse

THE spring of 1930 saw Coach Mohler organizing his Lacrosse outfit, and sending them into competition against six opponents, with the result that four defeats and two victories were registered for the Springfield combine. Although this is not an impressive record, the strength of the opponents must be taken into consideration.

In the opening game of the season, the Army stick-handlers entertained the Maroon and White at West Point with the result that a 9 to 1 defeat was handed the Mohlermen. Springfield, though statistically weak, put up a strong, persistent fight.

Springfield copped the next two games by first licking the Boston L. C. 5 to 1 and then defeating the Williams outfit 4 to 2 in a ten minute overtime period. The Springfield defense played a good game and rarely did the Williams attack succeed in getting past the midfield. Steen, Ready, and Searle played the most consistent game for the Maroon attack, while Netter, Ball, and Langille were the outstanding men on the defense. Searle, Waterman, Steen, and Stewart scored the points for Springfield.

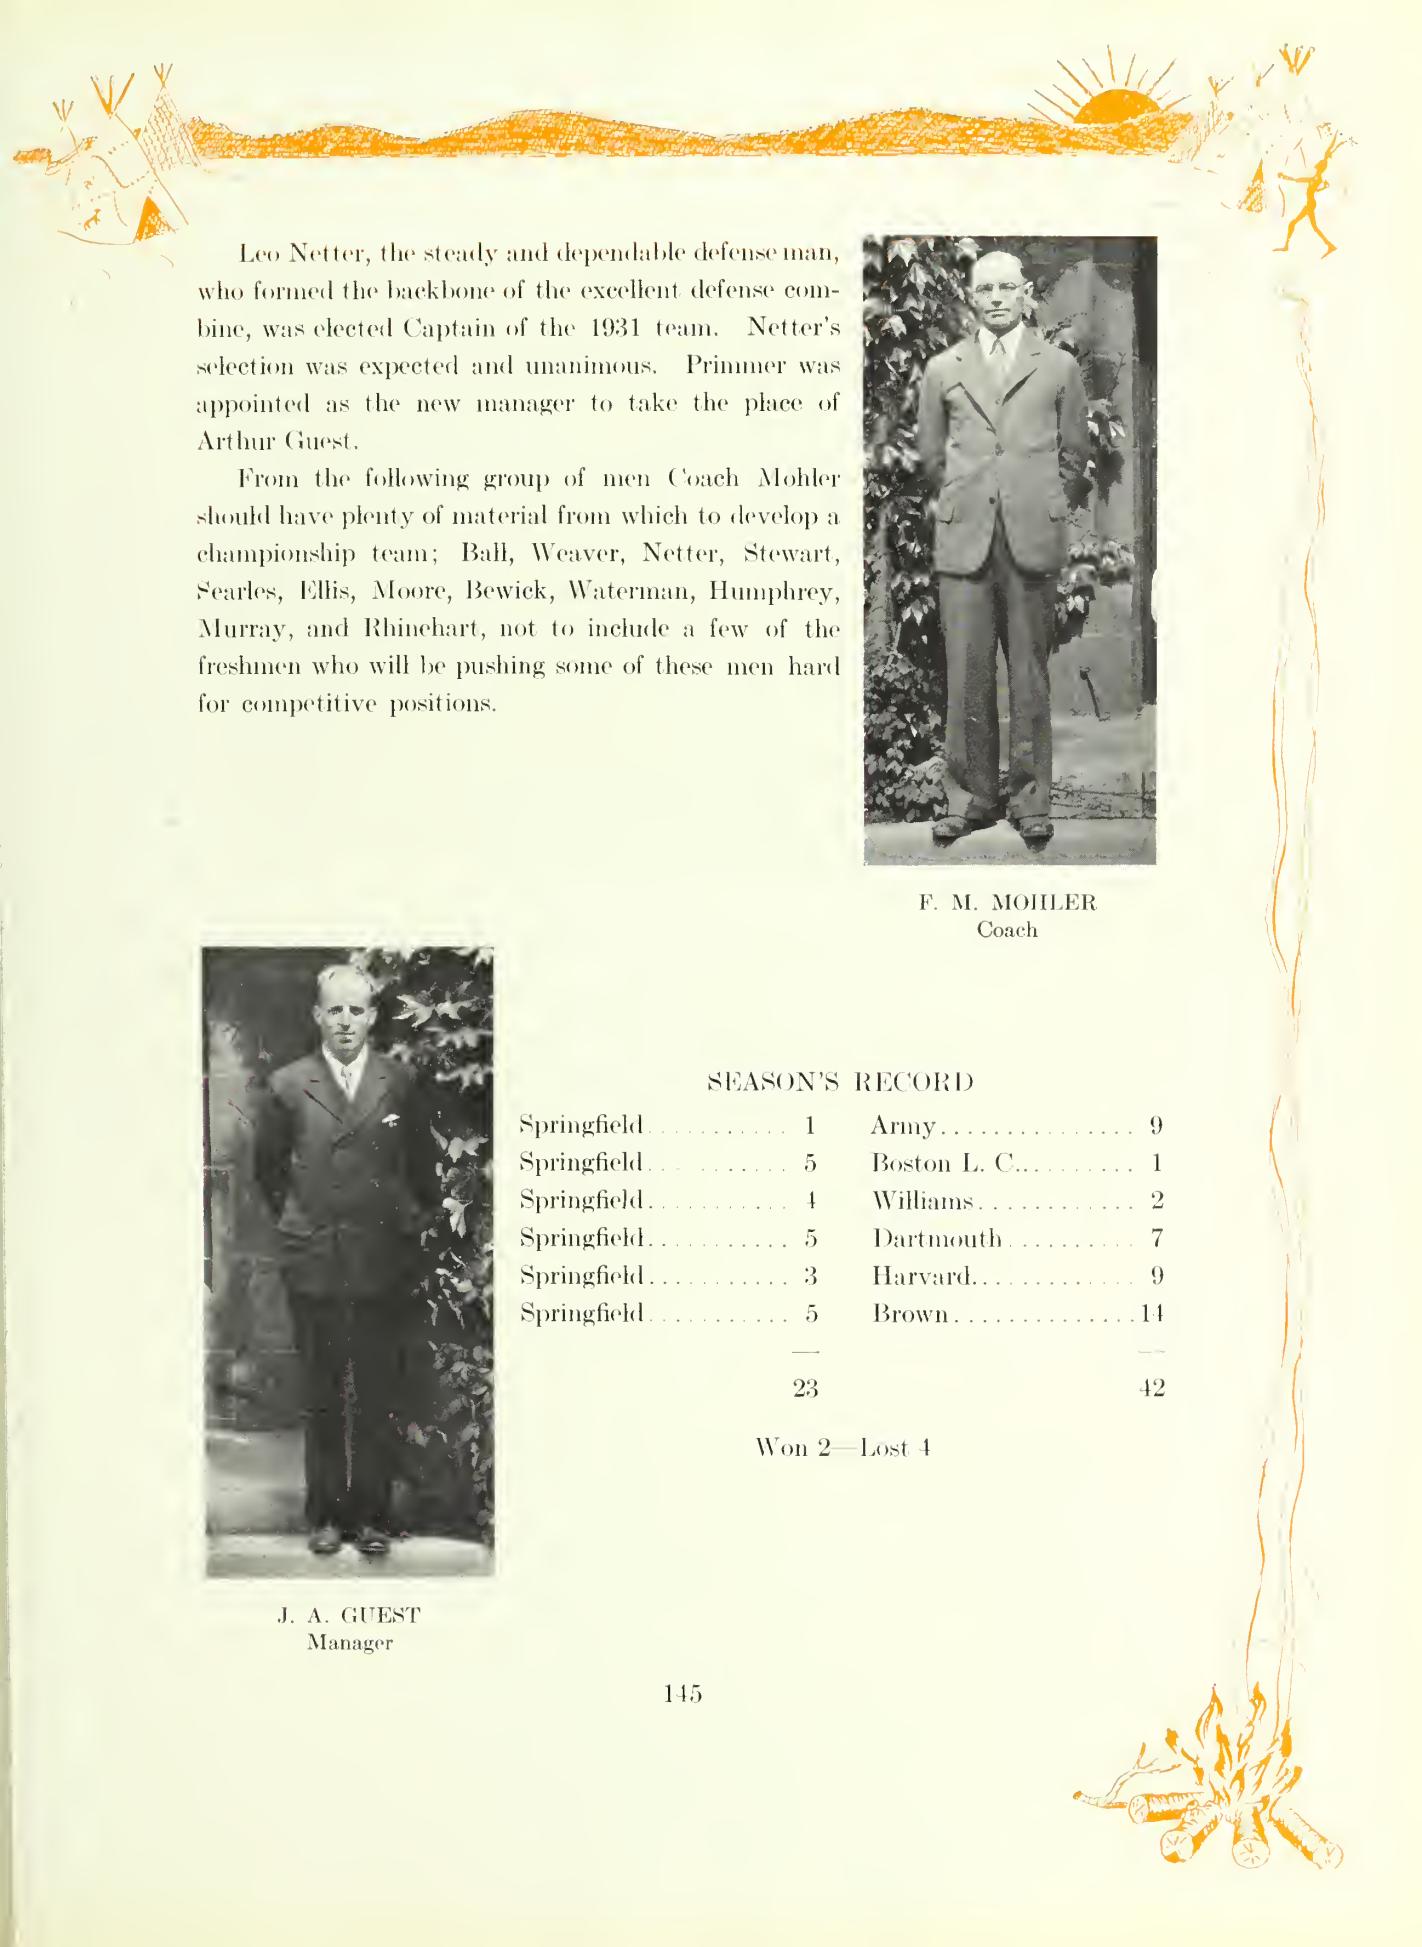

*Back Row: Ball, Paige, Moore, Netter, Dailey
Middle Row: Birdsall, Mohler, Langille, Rhinehart, Searle, Stewart, Guest Front Row: Ellis, Weaver, Outten, Benton, Ready, Steen, Humphrey, Murray, Waterman*

Following this two-game win the Springfield team suffered three defeats at the hands of Dartmouth, Harvard, and Brown. A let-down in the final period allowed the Big Green to place the winning goals, with the final score tallying 7 to 5. The Mohlermen suffered decisive defeats in the two final games, losing to Harvard 9 to 3, and then to Brown 14 to 5.

Capt. Ready, Outten, Steen, and Benton played their last for Springfield in the Brown game. The work of these veterans is responsible for a good bit of the speed and accuracy that has characterized Springfield's play on the field. Ready's four year service, his devotion to building interest and teaching the game to beginners is worthy of high praise.

On the attack, Capt. Ready at center and Steen at first attack were the outstanding men on the aggregation, while Netter and Weaver performed brilliantly on the defense in their respective positions of point and third defense. The running and hard playing of Al Weaver characterized him as the Lacrossman of most promising development during the season.

Ball, Netter, and Steen were the only men to play full time in every game, totaling 370 minutes. Ready played all but 12 minutes of the full time.

Leo Netter, the steady and dependable defense man, who formed the backbone of the excellent defense combine, was elected Captain of the 1931 team. Netter's selection was expected and unanimous. Primmer was appointed as the new manager to take the place of Arthur Guest.

From the following group of men Coach Mohler should have plenty of material from which to develop a championship team; Ball, Weaver, Netter, Stewart, Searles, Ellis, Moore, Bewick, Waterman, Humphrey, Murray, and Rhinehart, not to include a few of the freshmen who will be pushing some of these men hard for competitive positions.

Varsity Tennis

UNDER the tutelage of Coach J. D. Brock and the leadership of Captain Bob Smith, the Springfield 1930 tennis team entertained a schedule of eleven matches, emerging with six wins and five losses. The team showed plenty of strength throughout the season winning their matches by fast, hard playing, and losing only to teams of better calibre.

Coach Brock's netmen, with Capt. Smith at the helm, invaded Amherst in the opening match of the season with a six-man team, only to be repulsed by a 7 to 2 score. The score does not show, however, that each match was closely contested, and well executed.

The Springfield racqueteers next journeyed on the first southern trip ever taken by a Maroon and White tennis team. They returned with two victories and one defeat. The victories were at the expense of the Brooklyn Polytechnical Institute and Franklin-Marshal, while the defeat was suffered at the hands of the strong Haverford netmen.

BROCK CAMERON GILLESPIE SMITH DOUGHERTY PHILLIPS HENDERLING COOPER

In the next two matches, the Springfield outfit split even, losing to Brown by a score of 6 to 3 and overwhelming Assumption in a one-sided affair which left the tally at 6 to 0.

The Varsity netmen were beaten quite decisively in the two following matches, losing to the Harvard Junior Varsity by an 8 to 1 score and then taking the short end of a 7 to 2 count against Wesleyan. Cameron was the only Springfield man to win his match in the Harvard competition.

The next three and final matches were victories for the Maroon and White combine. In the Holy Cross encounter Springfield won a well-earned victory with a close 5 to 4 score. Hard, fast, and clever playing characterized the efforts of both teams. In the Trinity match the Springfield Brockmen showed a fine brand of tennis by finishing 4 to 2 over their opponents. Pratt field was the scene for the final tennis match of the season for the Varsity netmen. Coach Brock's charges took over the racqueteers from Clark University 5 to 1 in a match which well showed the playing ability of the Maroon and White netmen.

The Clark match marked the last time three seniors would appear on the courts for Springfield; Capt. Bob Smith, M. C. Cameron, and G. L. Gillespie.

These men all showed splendid playing ability during their games despite the fact that there were not more wins on the final score sheet.

Four of the six lettermen will be absent from Springfield's next tennis team. Three seniors will be lost by graduation and W. E. Dougherty by transference. All of these men will be greatly missed, their vacated positions will not be easily filled.

Captain-elect Henderling will lead next year's outfit bolstered by Jack Phillips, the other letterman to return. However, the freshman team boasts some good players, McRae, C. Miller, and S. King, who should add to the strength of next year's Varsity unit.

Varsity Football

THE Springfield College football schedule presented Coach Rothacher and his squad of 1930 football candidates a strenuous task requiring much time and hard work on the part of both players and coaches. The schedule ushered in two new opponents, Colby and Lebanon Valley, among the other challengers of the year. Harvard, East Stroudsburg, Boston University, Middlebury, Mass. Aggies, New Hampshire University, and Vermont completed the schedule.

The team, ably led by Capt. Red Thompson, enjoyed one of the most brilliant and successful seasons that any Maroon and White team has experienced under the coaching of Jack Rothacher. Playing a nine game schedule, the Rothachermen won eight games, losing only to the powerful Harvard team. With the exception of the Harvard opponents, New Hampshire University was the only aggregation to score against the Maroon and White.

In the opening game of the season East Stroudsburg journeyed to Pratt Field with high hopes of duplicating the game with Springfield a year ago, when they held our team to a 0 to 0 tie. Stroudsburg again presented a strong defense but under the terrific hammering of the Springfield forward wall and the flashy running of the backs, she crumbled in the second period. After Owl smashed through tackle for the first score of the season, the outcome of the game was never in doubt. He and Dreszel proceeded to gather in three more touchdowns, while a safety was scored against Call of Stroudsburg. Every man on the bench saw service in the game which ended with a 29 to 0 score in favor of the Maroon and White.

The team then took a long jaunt to Waterville, Me., where they easily conquered the Colby team which had beaten Wesleyan the week before. The clever running of White and the fine blocking of Knowlton were the outstanding features of the game. Coach Rothacher had had his men well primed for this game as the 33 to 0 score indicates.

In the third game of the season Springfield met their only defeat, but it required a powerful and fast Harvard team to conquer the fighting spirit shown by Rothacher's eleven. The defense of the Springfield team proved to be a match for their opponents, three of their touchdowns being scored largely on breaks of the game. The Maroon and White offense had little chance to show their sterling ability and only threatened once when, in the first period, with passes and running plays, they advanced the ball from their own two-yard line to the Harvard forty-yard line. Here, possession of the ball went to the Crimson team on a fumble.

Springfield rooters found some consolation in the fact that Harvard required a full quarter to score each of its touchdowns.

The following Saturday Springfield entertained a strong and spirited Lebanon Valley outfit on Pratt Field, and then sent them back to Pennsylvania feeling a little morose over their 20 to 0 defeat. The Maroon and White line held effectively as the problem of advancing the ball could not be solved by the Pennsylvania team, their aerial attack proving futile against the watchful eyes of the Springfield secondary defense. That versatile football nidget, "Rabbit" White, again proved his football toting ability by scoring the first two touchdowns. Ruseoe came into the limelight when he snared a Lebanon pass and skirted down the sidelines for the final marker. Plumb, Owl, and Simonson proved quite effective on plunges, slants, and reverses, as well as laterals.

Once again the Rothachermen left the home stamping grounds and journeyed to Boston to give B. U. a 20 to 0 trouncing in a game that existed during a driving rain overhead and a mass of muck underfoot. Straight bucks and plunges were the order of the day although the first touchdown was scored on a pretty pass from Knowlton to White. Knowlton's educated toe kept the ball out of Springfield territory and gave the B. U. team very little opportunity to get within scoring range. Simonson and Ruseoe did most of the ball-carrying and gained considerably on their plunges. The third and fourth quarters were but six minutes each as the possibility of injuries was greatly increased by the condition of the field.

On their last out-of-town game of the season, the varsity football team subdued a scrappy Middlebury outfit 34 to 0 at Middlebury, Vermont. The first half was stubbornly fought with Springfield able to gain but a six point advantage. Superior condition, backed by plenty of power and reserve material came to the fore, however, and the Rothachermen ran rings around the home team in the latter stages of the game. White, Owl, and Brown each managed to gather in two touchdowns.

The Rothachermen just naturally created history in the Home-coming tilt with Mass. Aggies by running back the two opening kickoffs for scores, by piling up the highest score ever made in this ancient series, by never allowing the Aggies to cross midfield, and by using three full teams in this one-sided tilt. This was the first time in the history of the sport that two touchdowns have been made at the beginning of a game from two successive kickoffs, all within a period of mere seconds. "Rabbit" White received the first kickoff and jaunted 96 yards down the field for a score; but on the next kickoff, Owl, not to be outdone by his mate, ran 94 yards for a second score from the second kickoff. From then on scores were rapidly chalked up against the Aggie outfit until the final whistle put an end to this assault with the score sheet showing a 57 to 0 victory for the Maroon and White eleven. Bob Brown stole much of the glory of the afternoons play by his fine running with the second and third teams, although the feat of White and Owl in the first minute of play remained the outstanding feature of the game.

With a weak Vermont University team to face on Turkey Day, the Rothacher-men proceeded to annihilate the Green Mountaineers in order to maintain an unde-

In their next to final game of the season, Rothacher's grid warriors turned in a 27 to 6 victory over the New Hampshire Wildeats. The day was gloomy, the atmosphere moist and at times wet, the field soft and muddy, the ball slimy, and yet, despite these handicaps, a slightly dampened crowd witnessed a colorful game which was not marred by a single miscue. The first half saw two evenly matched teams battling for an advantage which Springfield finally gained to close the half leading by 14 to 6. In the second half the Springfield gridmen played fast, smooth, hard ball to score two more tallies as N. H. went down to defeat. Although Owl, White, Dressel, Brown, and others in the backfield should be rewarded for their splendid showing not enough can be said in praise of the forward wall which consistently opened holes for the backs and who outplayed their heavier rivals both offensively and defensively.

feated season in its class. The light flashy backs aided by the usual fine blocking of the forwards had a field day and scored touchdowns practically at will. Springfield seemed to be able to score from any and all plays and the close of the first half saw a 62 to 0 score. The third string men saw service in the third quarter and the time of each of the last two quarters was shortened five minutes. However 20 more points were garnered in this half to make the final score of 82 to 0 stand out as the most decisive triumph of the season.

Reports by the Associated Press show that Springfield was one of the three teams in the East to score more than 300 points. In regard to the standing decided on games won and lost, Springfield rated number four on the Eastern list.

The Vermont game marked the appearance for the last time in a football uniform of twelve seniors, five of whom have given two to three years of valiant service to Coach Rothacher. The men ending their college football careers are Amann, Blumentholtz, Bryant, Daniels, Detering, Geesman, Holloway, Rae, Johnson, Simonson, and Capt. Thompson.

"Heinie" Knowlton was honored by election to captain the 1931 team. Knowlton along with other luminaries from the 1930 squad of grid warriors should be the head of another strong Springfield football eleven.

EST Stroudsburg headed the list of opponents to be encountered by the 1930 Brockmen and though this list was comprised of the leading teams in the East, the soccerites turned in a good season of six wins and three losses.

The Maroon and White booters successfully opened their season with a 5 to 0 win over East Stroudsburg. The playing of the team although rough at times in this initial encounter, showed plenty of ability in both offensive and defensive playing.

The next two games saw Springfield go down to defeat in hard fought encounters. The Yale combine took the measure of the Springfield men by a 3 to 1 verdict while the following week saw Springfield crumble before a Northeastern soccer team in a rather raggedly played game by a 1 to 0 score.

From beginning to end the Army-Springfield game was a rough, furiously fought battle, with neither team having the advantage until the third quarter when Joe Owens sunk a hard shot after a sensational piece of passwork by his teammates. No further score was produced and the game ended 1 to 0 in favor of the Brockmen. Much improvement could be seen in the forward wall which worked with fast and sure precision while the defense seemed to humble any attack on the part of the Army forwards. Much credit is due not only to the smooth-working forward line, but also to the defense men, especially Seewagen who did some sensational work in the goal for Springfield.

The next two games saw two more victories added to the list of wins as the Maroon and White team easily won from the Tufts team, following that with a win over the Wesleyan soccerites. Both games were won with the decisive score of 6 to 0. The passing of the forward wall was smooth, accurate, and fast, while the backs formed an impregnable barrier for the opposing forwards to pass.

Once again Springfield went down to defeat but only at the hands of one of the best soccer teams in the country, the Crescent A. C. who won a 4 to 2 victory. Some consolation is found in the fact that this was the lowest score to which the C. A. C. was held this season. Both teams played exceptional soccer and it was only the greater experience of the C. A. C. team which spelled defeat for the Maroon and White.

The Brockmen then rose to great heights and perfect soccer in their next two games, the final ones of the season, as they romped away with victories over Brown and Dartmouth. The Dartmouth club was rated as a corking team but they had no idea of what was in store for them when they took the field against the Brockmen. The backs were impenetrable and the shots of the Dartmouth forwards failed to net a single goal. Captain Searle was the outstanding player in the game, scoring four of the five goals rolled up by Springfield. Brown was the next opponent and a 5 to 1 victory over the soccer team of this school ended the 1930 season of the Springfield varsity soccer team. The Brown team was unable to stem off the hard playing that netted five goals for Brock's winning combination.

The Brown game was the last for a number of seniors who have had much to do in the victories of the Springfield team. Capt. Searle has been a dependable, strong part of the varsity team for three years. Netter, goalie, Bing Miller, an exceptional fullback, Bunny Hartman, a clever halfback, and Babe Graham, the stocky center halfback, are the regulars that have closed the book on their college soccer careers.

Varsity Cross Country

COACH Judd's first call for a cross country squad was met by the eager appearance of a large group including many veterans from the team of the previous year and also valuable material from the freshman line-up. The outlook was bright for a successful season and Coach lost no time in immediately rounding the candidates into shape.

On October 17, the varsity harriers met their first opponents, the Conn. Aggie team, whom they defeated by a 24 to 39 score. The work of Capt. Chet Olmstead, Bown, Andersson, and Watts was outstanding in this initial meet.

The team then traveled to Bates College, at Lewiston, Maine, where they were defeated by the strong Bates harriers 36 to 19. The weather was far from ideal with a pouring rain and slippery footing, but the time was very fast. Considering the championship caliber of the Bates team the Springfield harriers ran a very commendable race. Capt. Chet Olmstead came in a very close second being beaten only by Whitten of the Bates team with a time of 21:40 for the course.

With Capt. Chet Olmstead leading the way to the tape, the varsity team won the intercollegiate meet held at Harvard, and thus gained permanent possession of the E. L. Farrell trophy which carries with it the small-college championship of

New England in cross-country circles. Five Springfield men finished among the first eleven contestants, giving the Juddmen the low score of 35 points which was 13 points better than the second place team. Olmstead finished first, Bown and Andersson came in sixth and seventh, while Gibbs and Tilden placed tenth and eleventh.

On the following day, the team traveled to Middlebury and Coach Judd's performers were still good enough to take over a capable Middlebury College cross-country team by a score of 20 to 45. In completing the schedule, the harriers met a powerful Army team and went down to a 36 to 15 defeat. Andersson, the first Springfield man to finish, had to be content with a seventh place.

Capt. Olmstead and Andersson deserve much credit for their seasons record. Bown, Gibbs, Doyle, Watts, and Karl also deserve a good deal of credit as men to be relied upon for gathering points.

Springfield can look forward to a most successful season in 1931 as there will not be a man lost through graduation and there should be some good material up from the freshman team.

Chet Olmstead was given the distinctive honor of being re-elected to captain the varsity cross-country team for his second year. Elmer Kerr also was awarded for his most efficient work by being reappointed to manage next year's team.

SHORTLY after the Thanksgiving recess Coach Hiecox issued the first call for basketball candidates. An unusually small squad of men reported but they were all of very high calibre, and for a few weeks it looked as though the coach would have a hard time in picking out his five men. However, as practice continued it became apparent that some men were outstanding and everything pointed towards a very successful season.

The first game was played at the beginning of the Xmas recess at Stroudsburg and resulted in a win for the Maroon and White. The boys returned from the Xmas vacation and were forced to buckle down to work immediately in preparation for a game with Tufts on the Saturday of that week. Tufts came with a strong team but were defeated in a fast and hard game by the score of 27 to 20.

On the following Wednesday the team journeyed to Arnold where they met one of the strongest and fastest quintets of the year and were defeated. This marked the beginnings of a series of injuries as Prince received a knee injury which kept him out of the playing for the rest of the season. On the Friday of this same week Rutgers invaded West Gym and in a very exciting contest were forced to defeat.

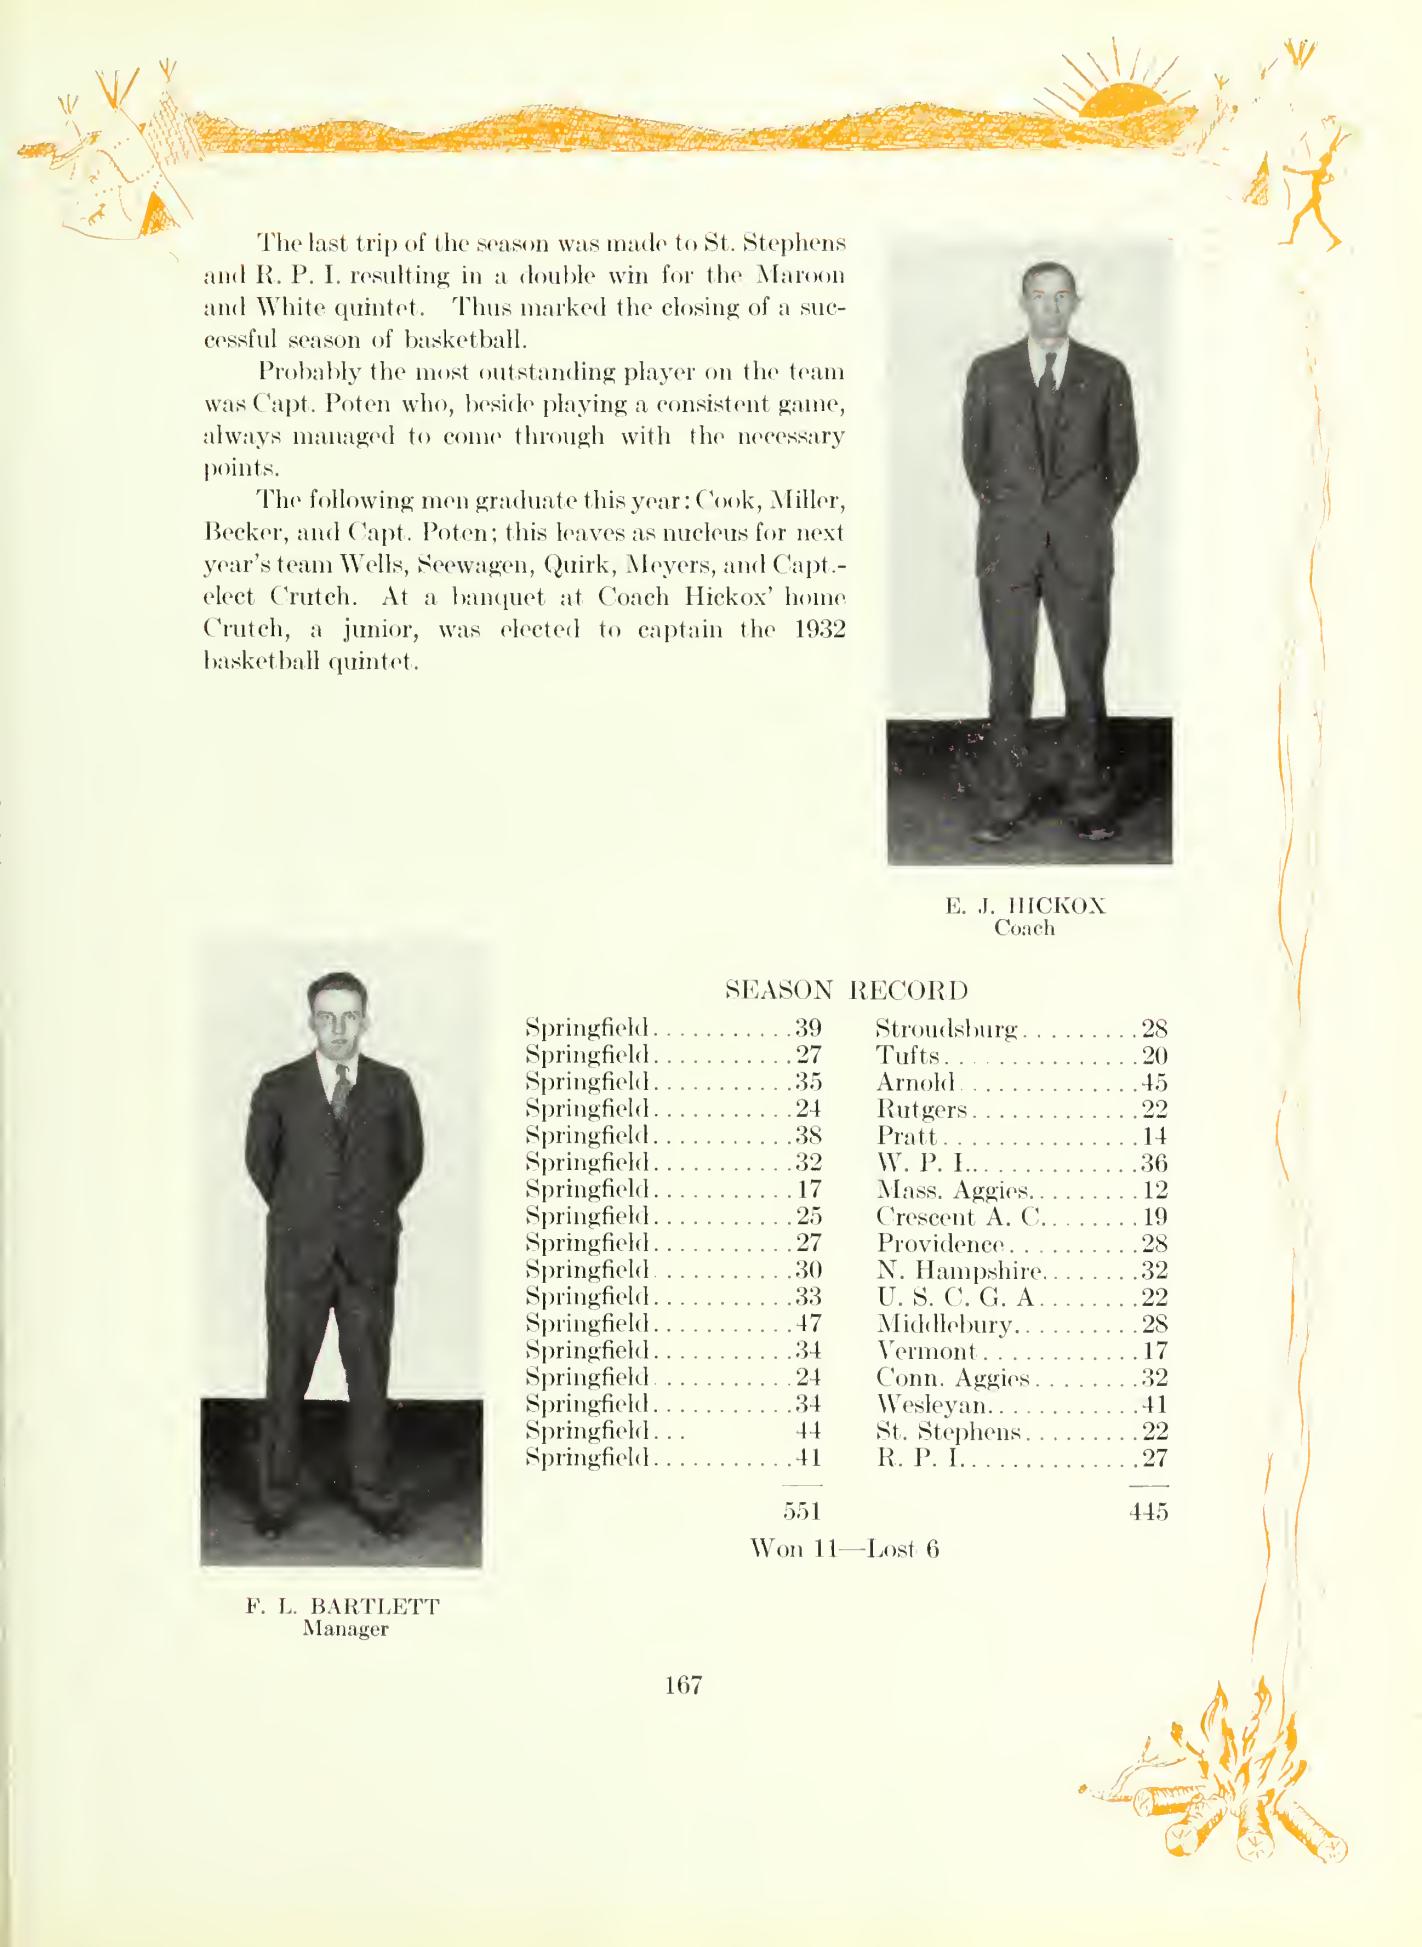

BARTLETT QUIRK MILLER PRINCE WELLS HICKOX
 SEEWAGEN CRUTCH COOK POTEN BECKER MEYERS HARRIS

Pratt was the next invader, and in a slow game the Springfield combine came out on top. The following evening the team journeyed to Worcester where they were beaten in a hard struggle to the tune of 32 to 36. This marked the continuance of tough luck when Bing Miller received a serious knee injury which was to keep him out for the remainder of the season.

The next game was a victory for Springfield when they trounced Mass. Aggies. On the Saturday of this same week C. A. C. were beaten by a close score in one of the best games of the season and it was largely through the inspired playing of the men that they accomplished this feat.

Our next opponent was Providence College and before a packed house in the West Gym they forced our boys to defeat. This was a most thrilling and exciting contest and it was but a matter of chance as to who would win the ball game. The final score was 27 to 28. Springfield lost their second game in a row when New Hampshire beat the Maroon and White on their home floor.

Springfield then won three games consecutively at the expense of the U.S.C.G.A. Middlebury, and Vermont. The last home game of the season was played against Conn. Aggies and resulted in a win for the latter. Conn. Aggies displayed a fine brand of basketball and well deserved to be the victor. On Feb. 25th the team met their old rival, Wesleyan, and despite the fact that Hickox's five led at half time by 26 to 13 they were beaten by the score of 41 to 34.

The last trip of the season was made to St. Stephens and R. P. I. resulting in a double win for the Maroon and White quintet. Thus marked the closing of a successful season of basketball.

Probably the most outstanding player on the team was Capt. Poten who, beside playing a consistent game, always managed to come through with the necessary points.

The following men graduate this year: Cook, Miller, Becker, and Capt. Poten; this leaves as nucleus for next year's team Wells, Seewagen, Quirk, Meyers, and Capt.-elect Crutche. At a banquet at Coach Hiekox' home Crutche, a junior, was elected to captain the 1932 basketball quintet.

Junior Varsity Basketball

THE Junior Varsity Basketball team, under the leadership of Captain Caldwell, and the fine tutelage of Coach Roughgarden, have had a successful season. Winning seven of the eleven games played, the Javees came to the end of their season with two successive defeats, but nevertheless with a total score of some seventy points above that of their competitors.

Opening the season by trouncing the Freshman squad, the Gardeners romped on through three more successful games, until they were nosed into defeat with a margin of five points when they met Collegiate Prep for the second time. The Trinity Church challengers were next in line and were fairly well salted down during the last half bringing Caldwell and his men to the sixth win of the season. On meeting the West Springfield "Y" for the second time, however, the tables were turned and the same 5-point defeat that characterized the second game with the Collegians caused the Javees another loss. Not to be floored by this, they rallied at the next game with Searles High and returned home with the promising score of 24-16. The last two games of the season, played away from home with Whitinsville and Vermont Academy, though close throughout, failed to net victories for the Maroon and White tossers.

The Junior Varsity squad, as a whole, has shown up well. "Rabbit" White, better known no doubt in the football field, can also be considered the outstanding player of the Javee basketball line-up for the past season, with Captain Caldwell running a close second. The best team within the squad could probably be found in Caldwell, White, Calder, Randall, and Rapuzzi. It is noteworthy that the teams played by the Javees this year have been much stronger than in past seasons, calling for a decided amount of punch and headwork on the part of the players. There are undoubtedly a number of good men in the ranks who will form the nucleus of next year's varsity squad.

THE schedule of the Gym Team was a long and strenuous one this season. Besides the regular season schedule the team made a ten day Spring Trip. The places where exhibitions were held were: Loomis School, at Windsor, Conn.; The Y. M. C. A. at Providence, R. I.; Ossining, Pleasantville and Peekskill, New York, on a trip through Westchester County; Y. M. C. A. at Meriden, Conn.; the annual home exhibition; Norwalk, and Greenwich, Conn.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Rye, Great Neck, and Oyster Bay, N. Y. The Spring trip consisted of visits to New York City, Wilmington, Delaware; Baltimore, Maryland; York, and Germantown, Penna.; Camden, New Jersey, and finally at West Point, New York.

The exhibitions have been of high calibre this year, and warmly received everywhere. There have been several new numbers added to the program that seem to have rounded out the exhibitions. The bar bell drill, and several new dances were the recent additions. One dance, the marathon, was very impressive and proved popular with the audience. Tiger leaping, the old favorite, is still very well received. The human pyramids which usually ended the programs were clever and artistic in their makeup, as well as apparatus work. The tumbling has managed to remain excellent in performance with Shotzbarger, the New England A.A.A. Junior champion, taking the place of George Jones. He was aided by many other competent men from among the team.

SKONBERG SCHLADER SHAY SYME STASSE BONNEL WECKWERTH FOOTRICK
CONN THOMPSON MACGREGOR McLAUGHLIN SHOTZBARGER

The home exhibition given before a capacity audience at the West Gym, was well received. Capt. Macgregor proved popular with the audience, and all the men put over a fine showing for the benefit of their fellow colleagues.

The exhibitions given away from home have been well supported. Perhaps the largest audience ever to witness a Springfield College Gym Team perform, was on hand the night the team exhibited in Great Neck, Long Island. There were over fifteen hundred people present, creating an atmosphere that put the boys on edge, so that they gave an unusually fine performance. This trip was quite successful, the first exhibition at Bridgeport, Conn., being performed before approximately one thousand people, and on the same evening, witnessed by over three hundred at Rye, New York. This trip is a typical example of the many that have been made. The team was received and their exhibitions performed always before capacity crowds.

This year competition was made a strong point in preparing for the Olympics in 1932, the team meeting in competition with Bowdoin, and West Point Military Academy. Many of the members also entered the New England Championships as well as the National Championships, which are held at Springfield College.

The men who graduate are Capt. MacGregor, MacLaughlin, Skonberg, Thompson, and Weekwerth. Capt. Macgregor has been a member of the Varsity team for three years, and was captain of his freshman gym team. Mac has been a capable performer, outstanding in team numbers, as well as placing among the leaders on the apparatus. MacLaughlin, one of the funniest clowns seen on a gym floor, will also leave next year. Mae's antics have been well received at every exhibition. Chick Weekwerth, an excellent dancer and team number performer, was a member of the varsity swimming team for two years before he changed over to gymnastics, where he has shown high excellence. Thompson and Skonberg, able performers in both team numbers and apparatus work, will also be missed next year.

Varsity Swimming

THE prospects of the 1931 swimming team did not appear any too favorable previous to the initial meet, but as the student body watched a Conn. Aggie swimming team receive a decided ducking by the Maroon and White mermen, there was no doubt left as to the calibre of Coach Jack Rothacher's latest swimming combine. The team was not comprised of any exceptional swimmers but was well balanced with good men to fill each event on the program.

The meet with Conn. Aggie was a one-sided affair, the Springfield men romping home with victories in nearly every event. The Springfield splashers then tackled two teams too strong for them and saw defeat twice, both times by the score of 43-19. Army was the first to take the measure of the local mermen, Zweidinger and Lanoue being the only first place winners for Springfield. In the next meet Dartmouth duplicated Army's victory.

At Williams College, Springfield encountered a most ambitious opponent, the result of the meet remaining undecided until the finish of the final event, the relay. Williams got off to a strong start by winning three of the first four events, but Springfield came back strong in the dives and back-stroke, and succeeded in winning the meet by taking the relay.

Against Bowdoin and Wesleyan the Springfield ducks found easy sailing winning both meets by decisive scores.

The Springfield swimmers then took a trip west engaging R. P. I. at Troy and Colgate at Hamilton in dual meets, returning home with two more victories to their credit. Yale decided to end Springfield's series of wins and administered the worst beating of the season to the Maroon and White team, the score concluding at 65-12. Nelson and Fisher were the only men to score seconds for Rothacher's combine.

The final dual meet of the season with Worcester was the most exciting one of the year and the spectators were provided with many thrills as nearly every race was a closely contested one. Zweidinger of the Maroon and White team lowered the pool record and the New England intercollegiate record in the century dash by turning in the fast time of 56 2-5 seconds. The meet ended with a closely matched race in the relay which Springfield won as Zweidinger touched out the anchor-man on the Worcester relay which brought the final score up to 50-27.

A week later, Coach Rothacher entered his team in the New England intercollegiate swimming meet and it was there that the men performed so brilliantly as to return with the championship honors. Although Springfield took only one first, that in the dives, the team gathered up points in nearly every event by winning second, third, and fourth places until a total of 24½ points had been garnered, which just beat out Brown for the championship by 1½ points. Close behind Springfield came Brown with 23 points, W. P. I. was third with 16 points, Wesleyan finished fourth with 14 points, while Williams finished but a ½ point behind them for fifth.

The intercollegiates ended the 1931 swimming season, and a most successful season it was with three losses, seven wins, and a victory in the New England intercollegiates.

From the varsity lettermen seven seniors will be lost by graduation. Capt. Ford, Nelson, Kisker, Walker, Zweidinger, Restall, and Humphrey, all of whom deserve a great deal of credit for their work with the team, will be lost through graduation. Manager Barker, also, deserves high praise for the capable manner in which he promoted the schedule. Coach Rothacher will not be in charge of the team next season, so here the team wishes to thank him for his devoted service during the past season.

Fred Lanoue and John Fisher were elected to lead the 1932 swimming team as co-captains.

Varsity Wrestling

COACH Pennock issued the call for candidates for the wrestling squad on Jan. 6th, and was answered by one of the smallest but most promising squads that has ever represented Springfield on the covered mat. Both in percentage of victories and from a financial standpoint, the past season was the most successful that the wrestlers have ever enjoyed.

The first competitor encountered was the team representing North Adams Y. M. C. A., and the boys from the Berkshires were sent home tasting the sting of a 14-6 defeat. In this match our men gave promise of great things in the near future and the second match only added further to this knowledge, when the team traveled to Cambridge and held a great Harvard team to a tie score, 16-16, that according to sporting gossip justly deserved a win for the Maroon and White. The third meet found the varsity pachydermists up against the champion Y. M. C. A. wrestlers from Hartford who were sent home to the tune of a 26-8 defeat.

The next meet was the banner event of the season in which our men rose to their greatest heights to snatch an 18-16 victory from Tufts on the latter's home floor, after being behind at the end of the fourth bout 16-0. Capt. Coe started the Springfield team on the path to victory with a most timely fall and the next three men came thru with the points necessary to record a victory for the Pennockless wrestlers over the Jumboites, who then went on to win a well deserved victory in the New England Championships.

SWIFT PAIGE BATT HAWKES JARVI STEEVES PENNOCK

Our next meet found the team topping off the Holiday sports program with an exciting victory over the Big Bears from Brown, by the score of 22-8. This was the first win for a Pennock-coached team over Brown. It was featured by a bout in the 165 lb. class between Capt. Wentworth of Brown and Bill Amann, with the Bruin leader keeping his four year record clean by winning with a small time advantage over the scrappy representative of Springfield.

The sixth meet of the season found the grapplers suffering a natural letdown, both physically and mentally, the result of which left the team on the short end of a 19-15 score—in favor of the men from City College of New York.

The men went to work the following week with more enthusiasm than any other time during the season, and when the following meet with M. I. T. occurred the Maroon and White handed the erstwhile conquerors of C. C. N. Y. their worst trouncing of the season, 22-6.

The last meet of the season marked the farewell appearance of five members of the squad—Capt. Coe, Tommy Rae, Mickey Meurling, Billy Amann and Bud Hartwell all members of the class of 31 who will graduate in June.

Highlights of the season are exemplified in the success of the team as a whole in winning 6 while losing only one meet and also in the remarkable individual records compiled by four outstanding stars.

Capt. Coe brought his career to a fitting close by keeping his slate clear in 20 matches over a three year stretch of varsity competition and his inspirational leadership could not be surpassed in the realm of wrestling.

Prospects for the coming season are bright with Capt. Elect Batt, Stevens and Paige returning and with the stepping up of several promising Frosh wrestlers, especially Capt. Hall and Leathers, who will more than fill the vacancies left by the men of this year. Other promising candidates are from the squad members of last year, Jarvi, Hawkes, and Smith.

Varsity Boxing

AFTER a lapse of seven years Springfield College has once more put a boxing team into the competitive field. A recent survey indicates that intercollegiate boxing has come to stay and is gaining more and more in popularity as time goes on. There is reason for this; boxing while being a most valuable exercise, develops all those qualities which go together in the making of splendid, virile manhood. It not only trains the body but also the spirit and develops courage, and moral and physical stamina.

The popularity of the sport here was manifest when the team met the Coast Guard Academy on February 28th in the East Gym. The gymnasium was filled to capacity with interested spectators.

It is unfortunate that only two meets were able to be scheduled. The first being with New Hampshire and the other with the above mentioned Coast Guardsmen. In the New Hampshire meet the team met defeat by the rugged boxers from the hills. The score being 6-1. However a strong comeback was made in the second meet when our men turned back the Academy men by the handy score of 5-1.

Captain and Coach Jimmy Cannell who boxes in the 135-lb. class, and is the New England and Middle West amateur lightweight champion, was the outstanding man on the team. He was the only member on the team to win both his matches.

Much credit is due to Faculty Manager of Athletics H. S. De Groat and R. V. Moore, team manager, who worked diligently to establish the sport here at school.

FEATURES

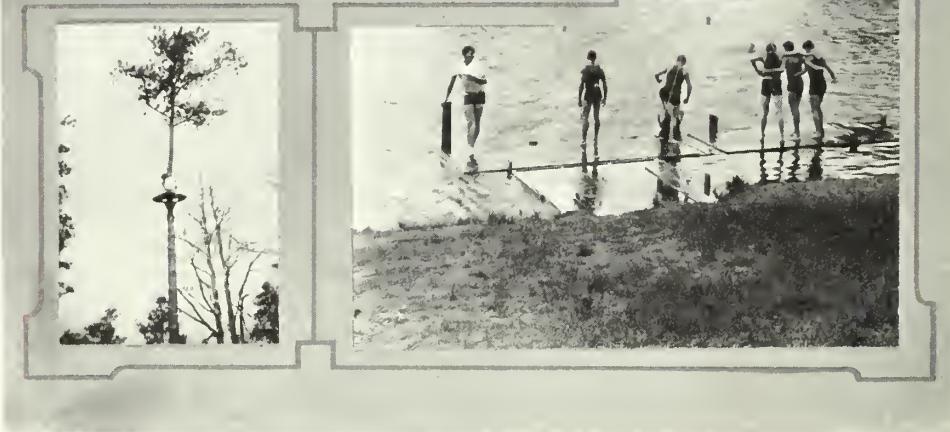

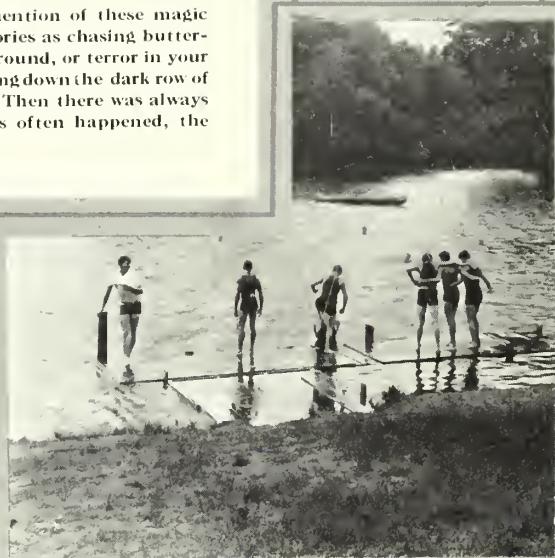

As the winter gusts came blowing in this year, everyone said, "Oh, well, it won't last long." But just as if to contradict the learned weather forecasters (who should have known better), Old Man Weather laid down some of the deepest, coolest, whitest blankets of snow that you ever plowed through. Though it was a bit inconvenient for the boys in their between-class dashes, just look at some of the beautiful effects it made on our little old campus!

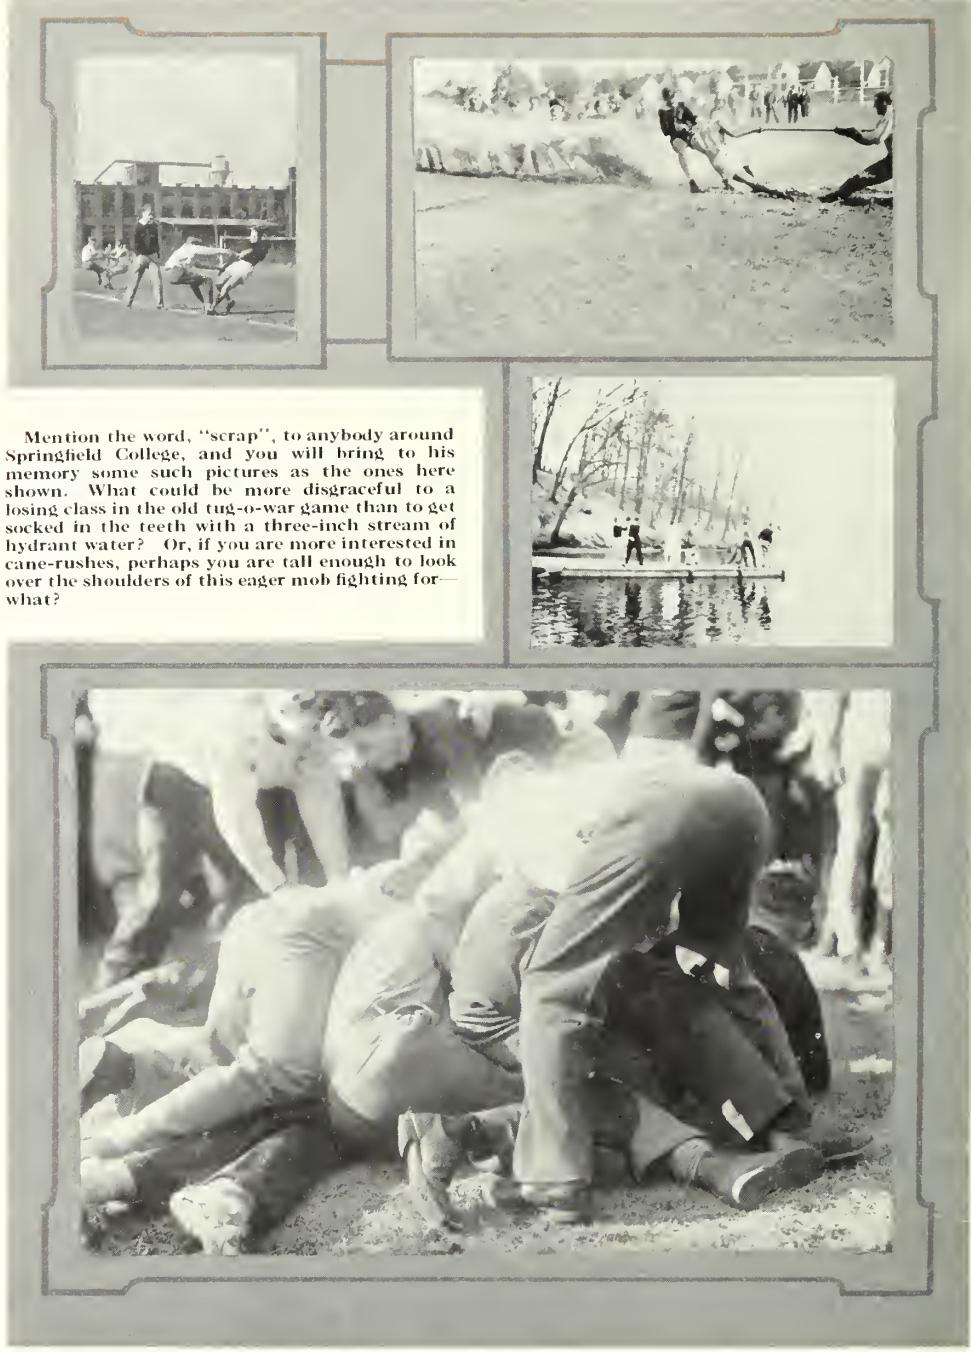

Freshman Camp!—The very mention of these magic words brings such crowded memories as chasing butterflies, sleeping on the hard, hard ground, or terror in your heart as the cry, "Sophomores!" rang down the dark row of tents like a bugle call to battle. Then there was always the hot, droning mid-day, or, as often happened, the ceaseless roar of rain, rain, rain.

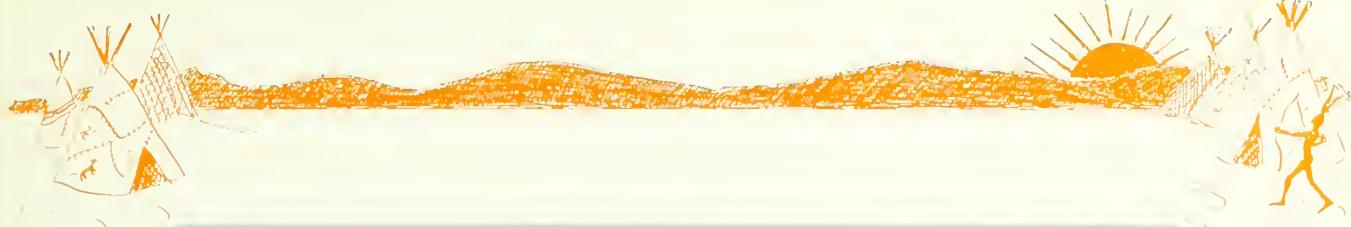

The '33 boys had an exceptionally fine time last spring—in spite of compulsory classes and a Noah's-ark downpour. Get a look at them here playing otter on the lake front, or forming a hasty breadline to the tune of, "Two men and a bucket!" And who wouldn't have a good time with such a fine-looking group of leaders as the photographer was able to catch in a lull between dinner courses. But the man who really did things around camp, everyone will admit, was none other than Mr. Tony Yuasa whom, for some reason, they just couldn't seem to keep out of the trees.

Mention the word, "scrap", to anybody around Springfield College, and you will bring to his memory some such pictures as the ones here shown. What could be more disgraceful to a losing class in the old tug-o-war game than to get socked in the teeth with a three-inch stream of hydrant water? Or, if you are more interested in cane-rushes, perhaps you are tall enough to look over the shoulders of this eager mob fighting for—what?

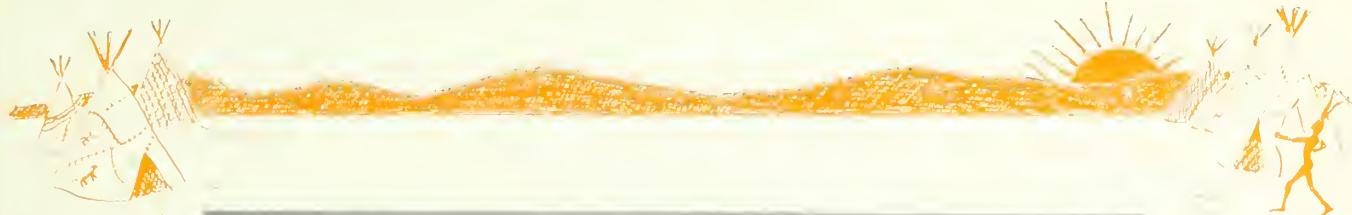

Everything that is lowly, everything that is ridiculous, everything that suggests embarrassing situations finds expression in the status of the poor little freshmen. Theirs not to reason why, theirs not to make reply, theirs but to do or die—and so far as we know none died. Here we see a few of the 1934 squad exhibiting what the well dressed frosh wore and did last fall, and what the new ones will do next year when these boys get a glance at 'em.

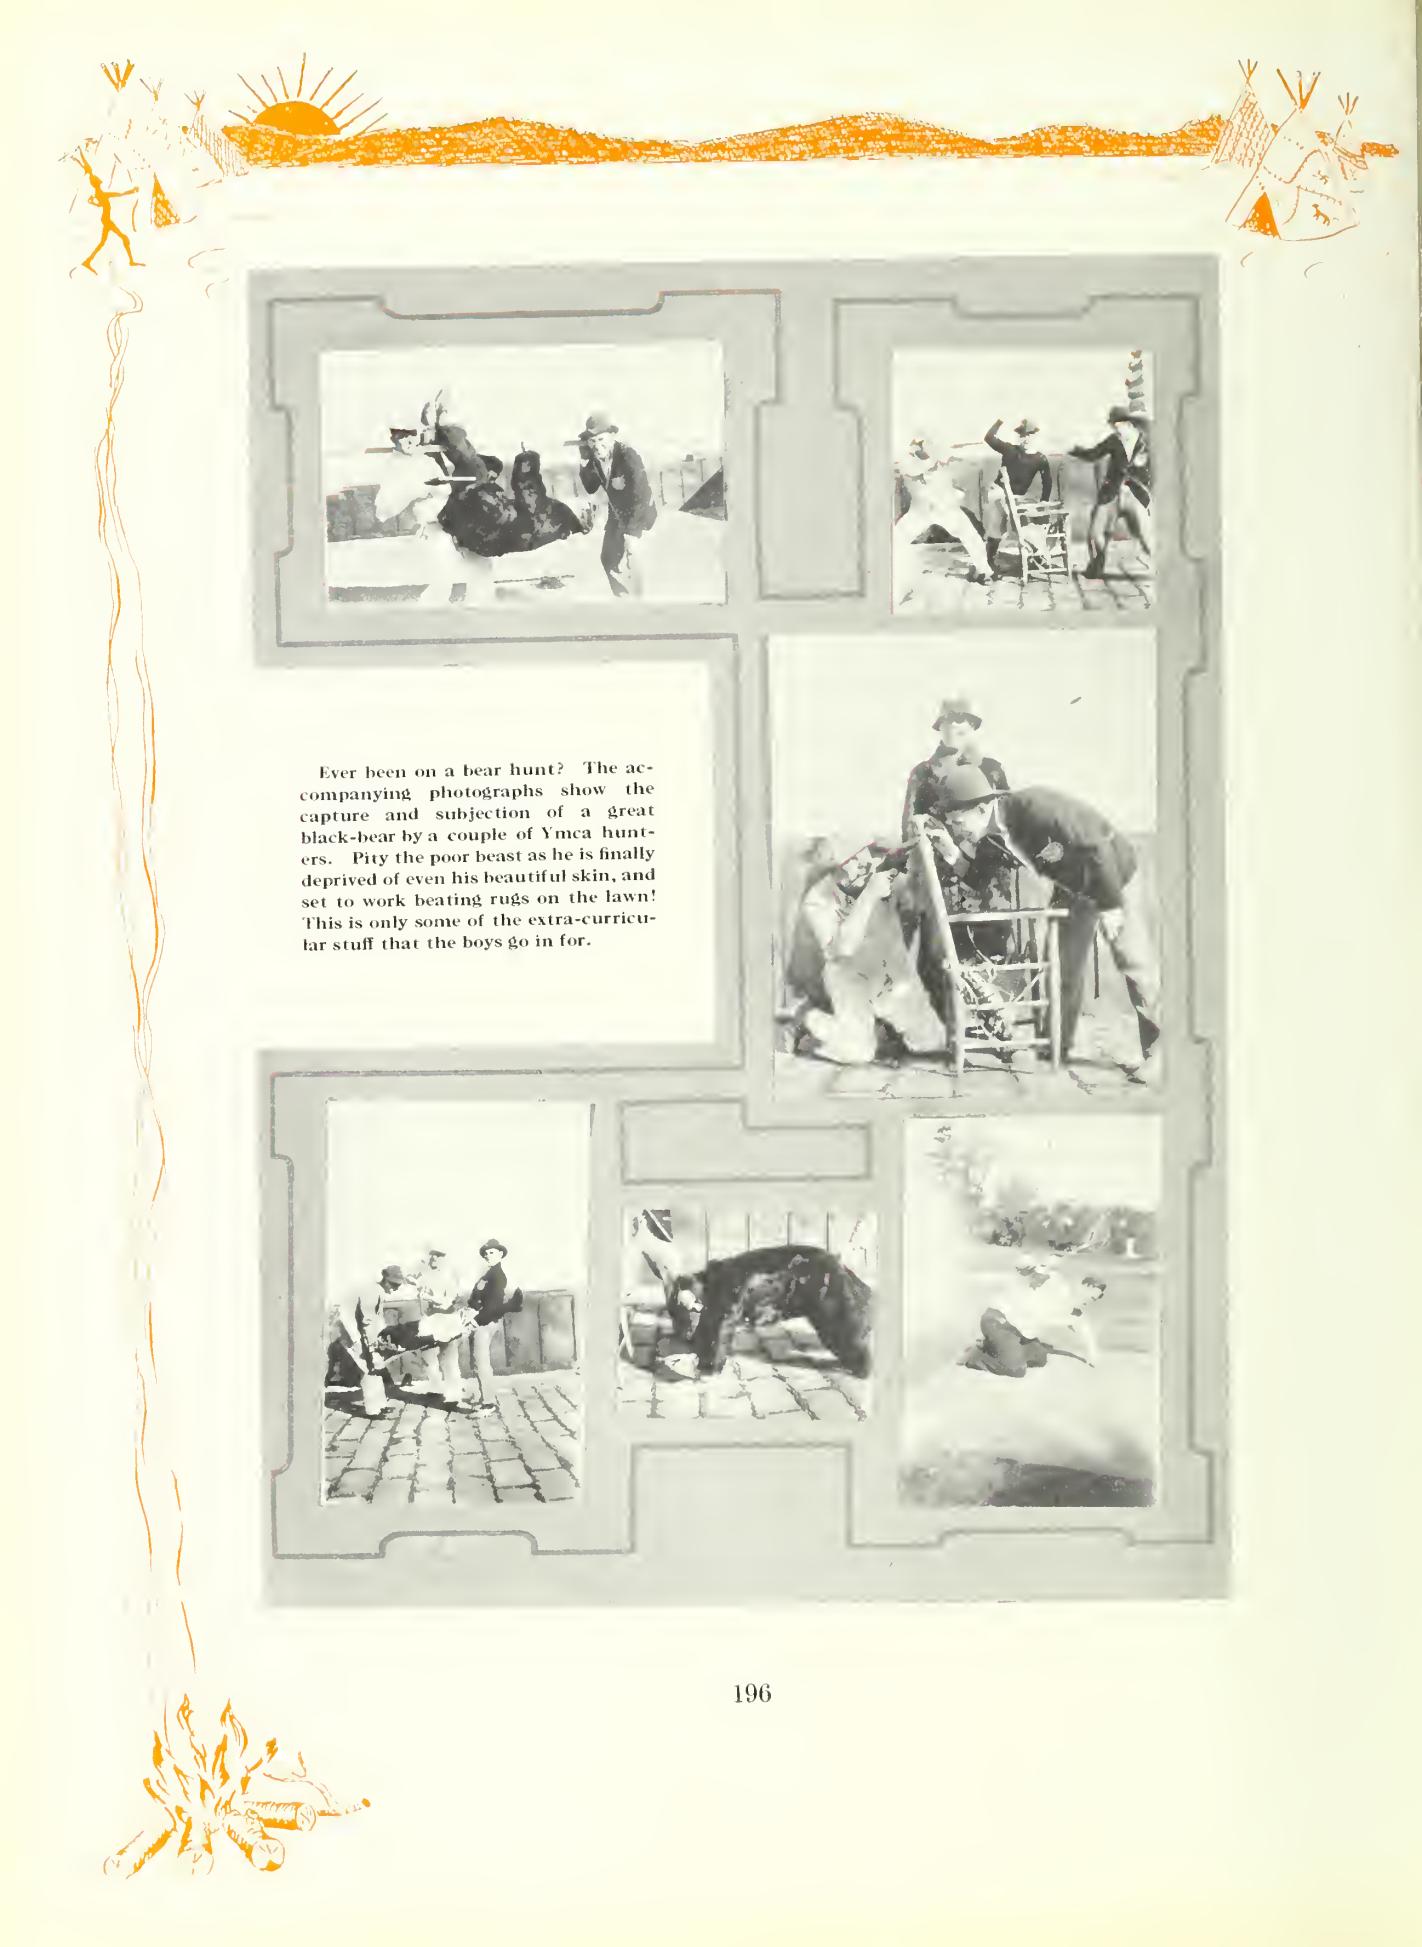

Football—first down, ten to go! Everybody gets excited when the old pigskin takes the center of the stage for the big fall-term game. Thrills run up our spine when the Springfield backs go tearing through for a nice long gain, and then run rapidly down when somebody on the other team gets loose. But this year most of our thrills ran upstream. Why not, with a combine like that, and Wally's maroon and white band to set the tune?

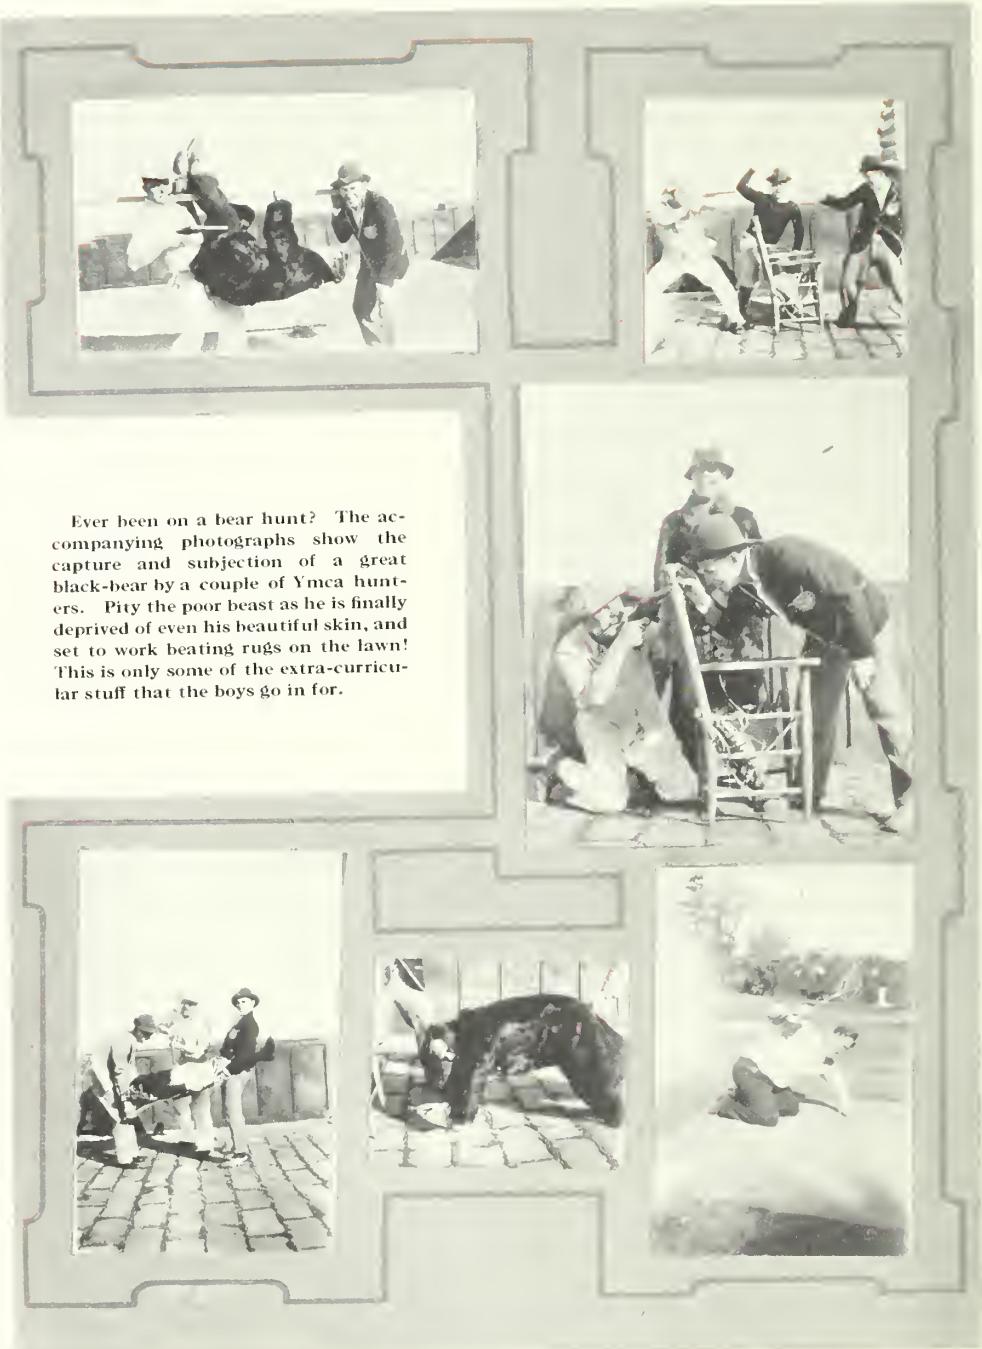

Here you see a number of interesting things. For instance, since all Springfield men are supposedly mentally balanced, how do you account for the two nuts in the old flivver. Or the one throwing himself a forward pass. The man on the tower may be a bit off, too. Incidentally, where there are nuts there are squirrels, and here is the king of the campus posing for his picture.

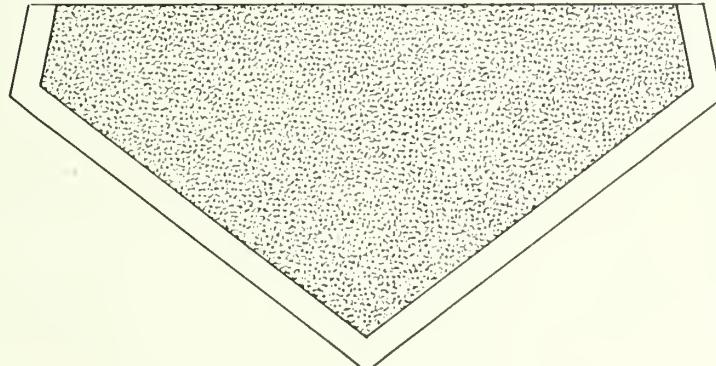

Ever been on a bear hunt? The accompanying photographs show the capture and subjection of a great black-bear by a couple of YMCA hunters. Pity the poor beast as he is finally deprived of even his beautiful skin, and set to work beating rugs on the lawn!

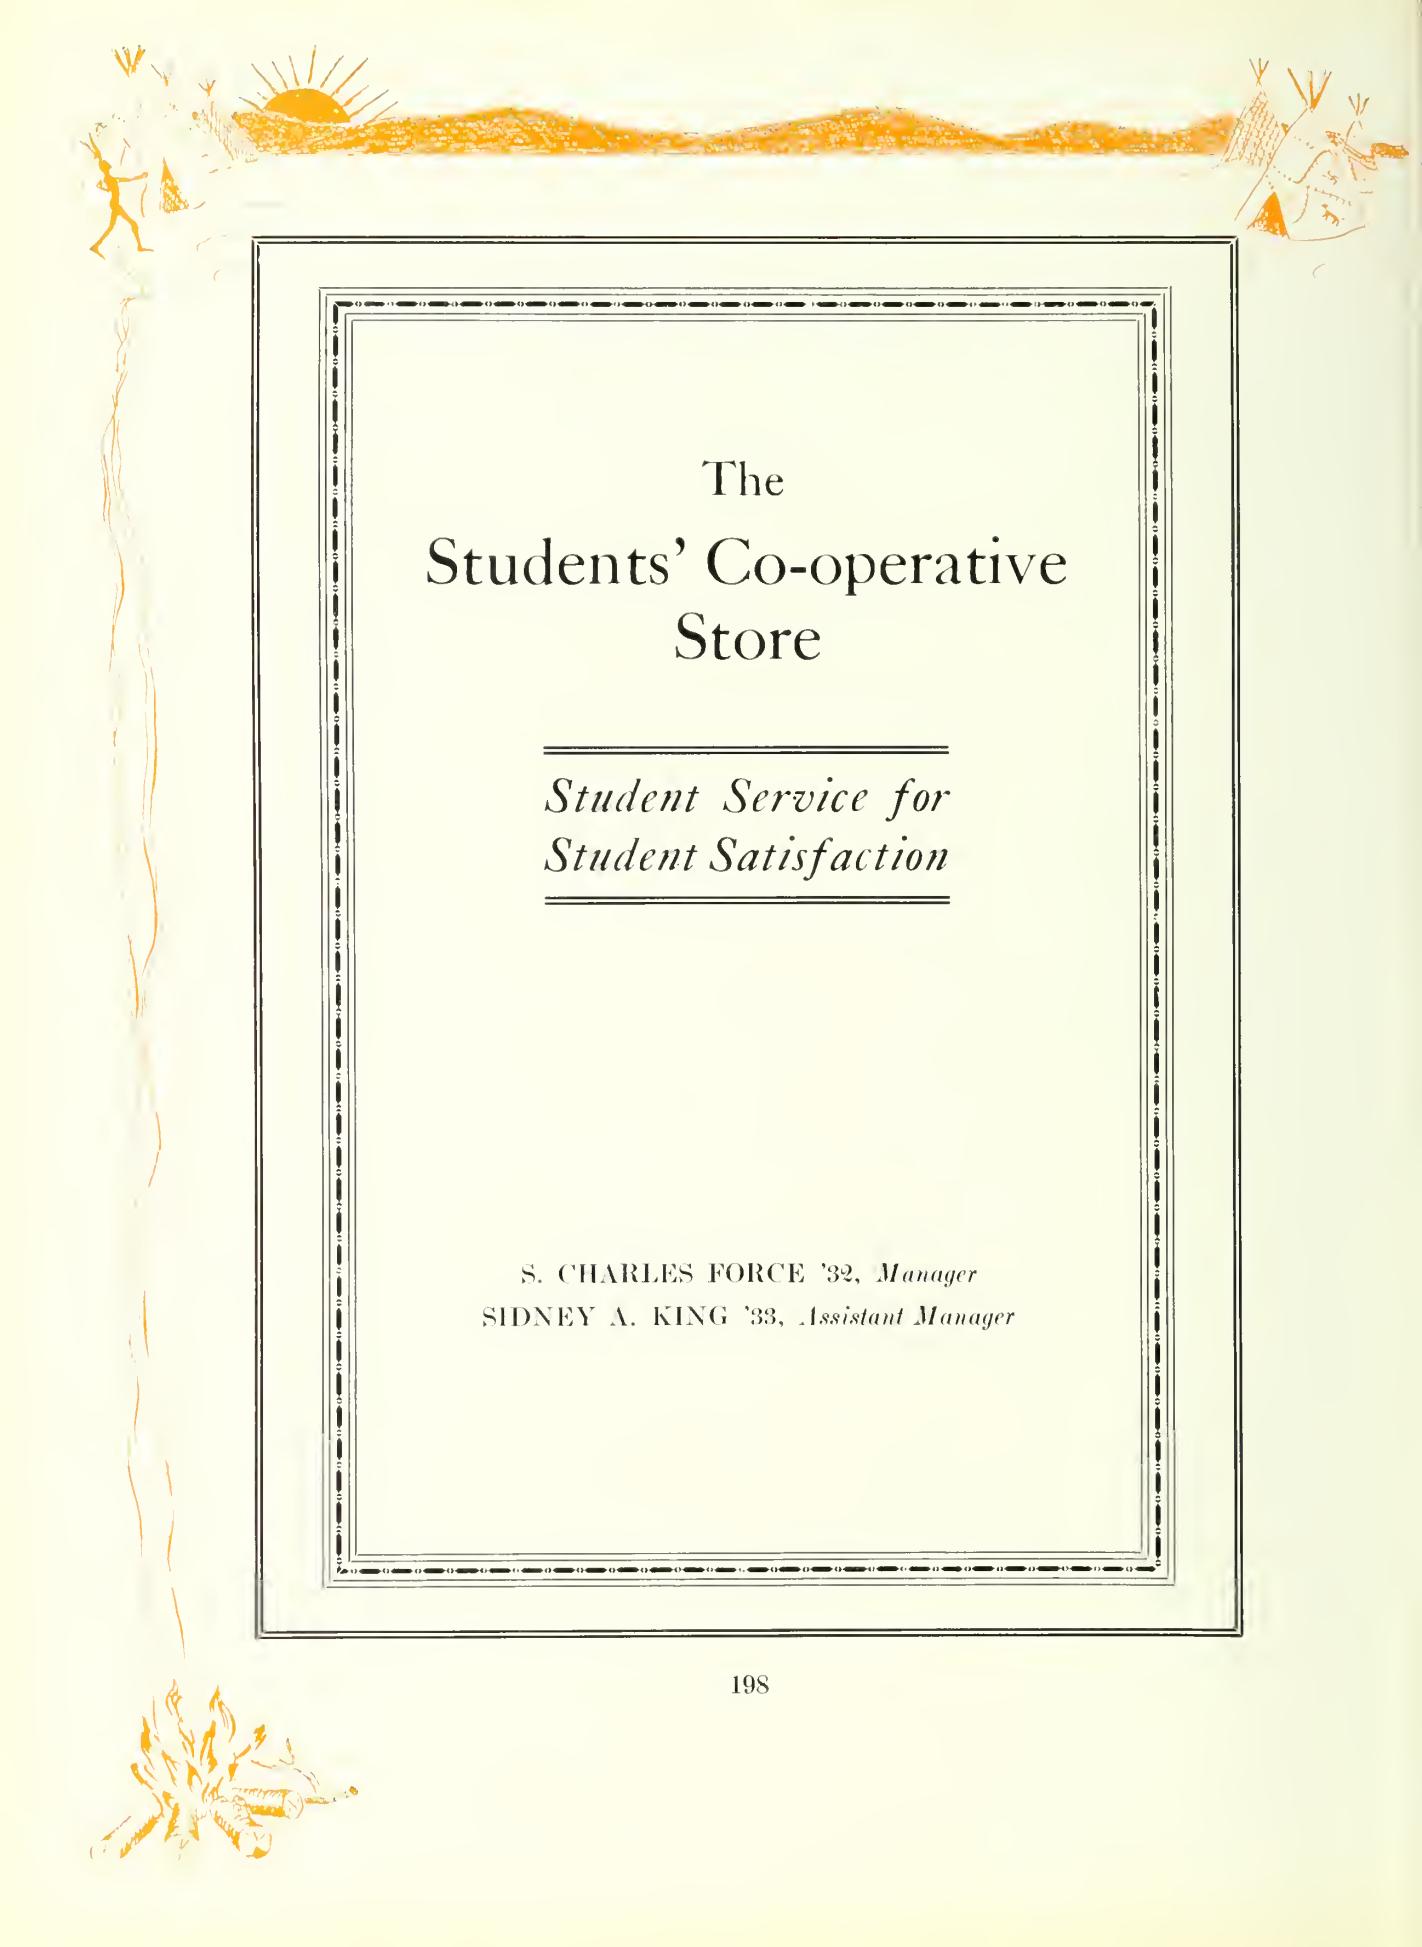

This is only some of the extra-curricular stuff that the boys go in for.

Class of 1931

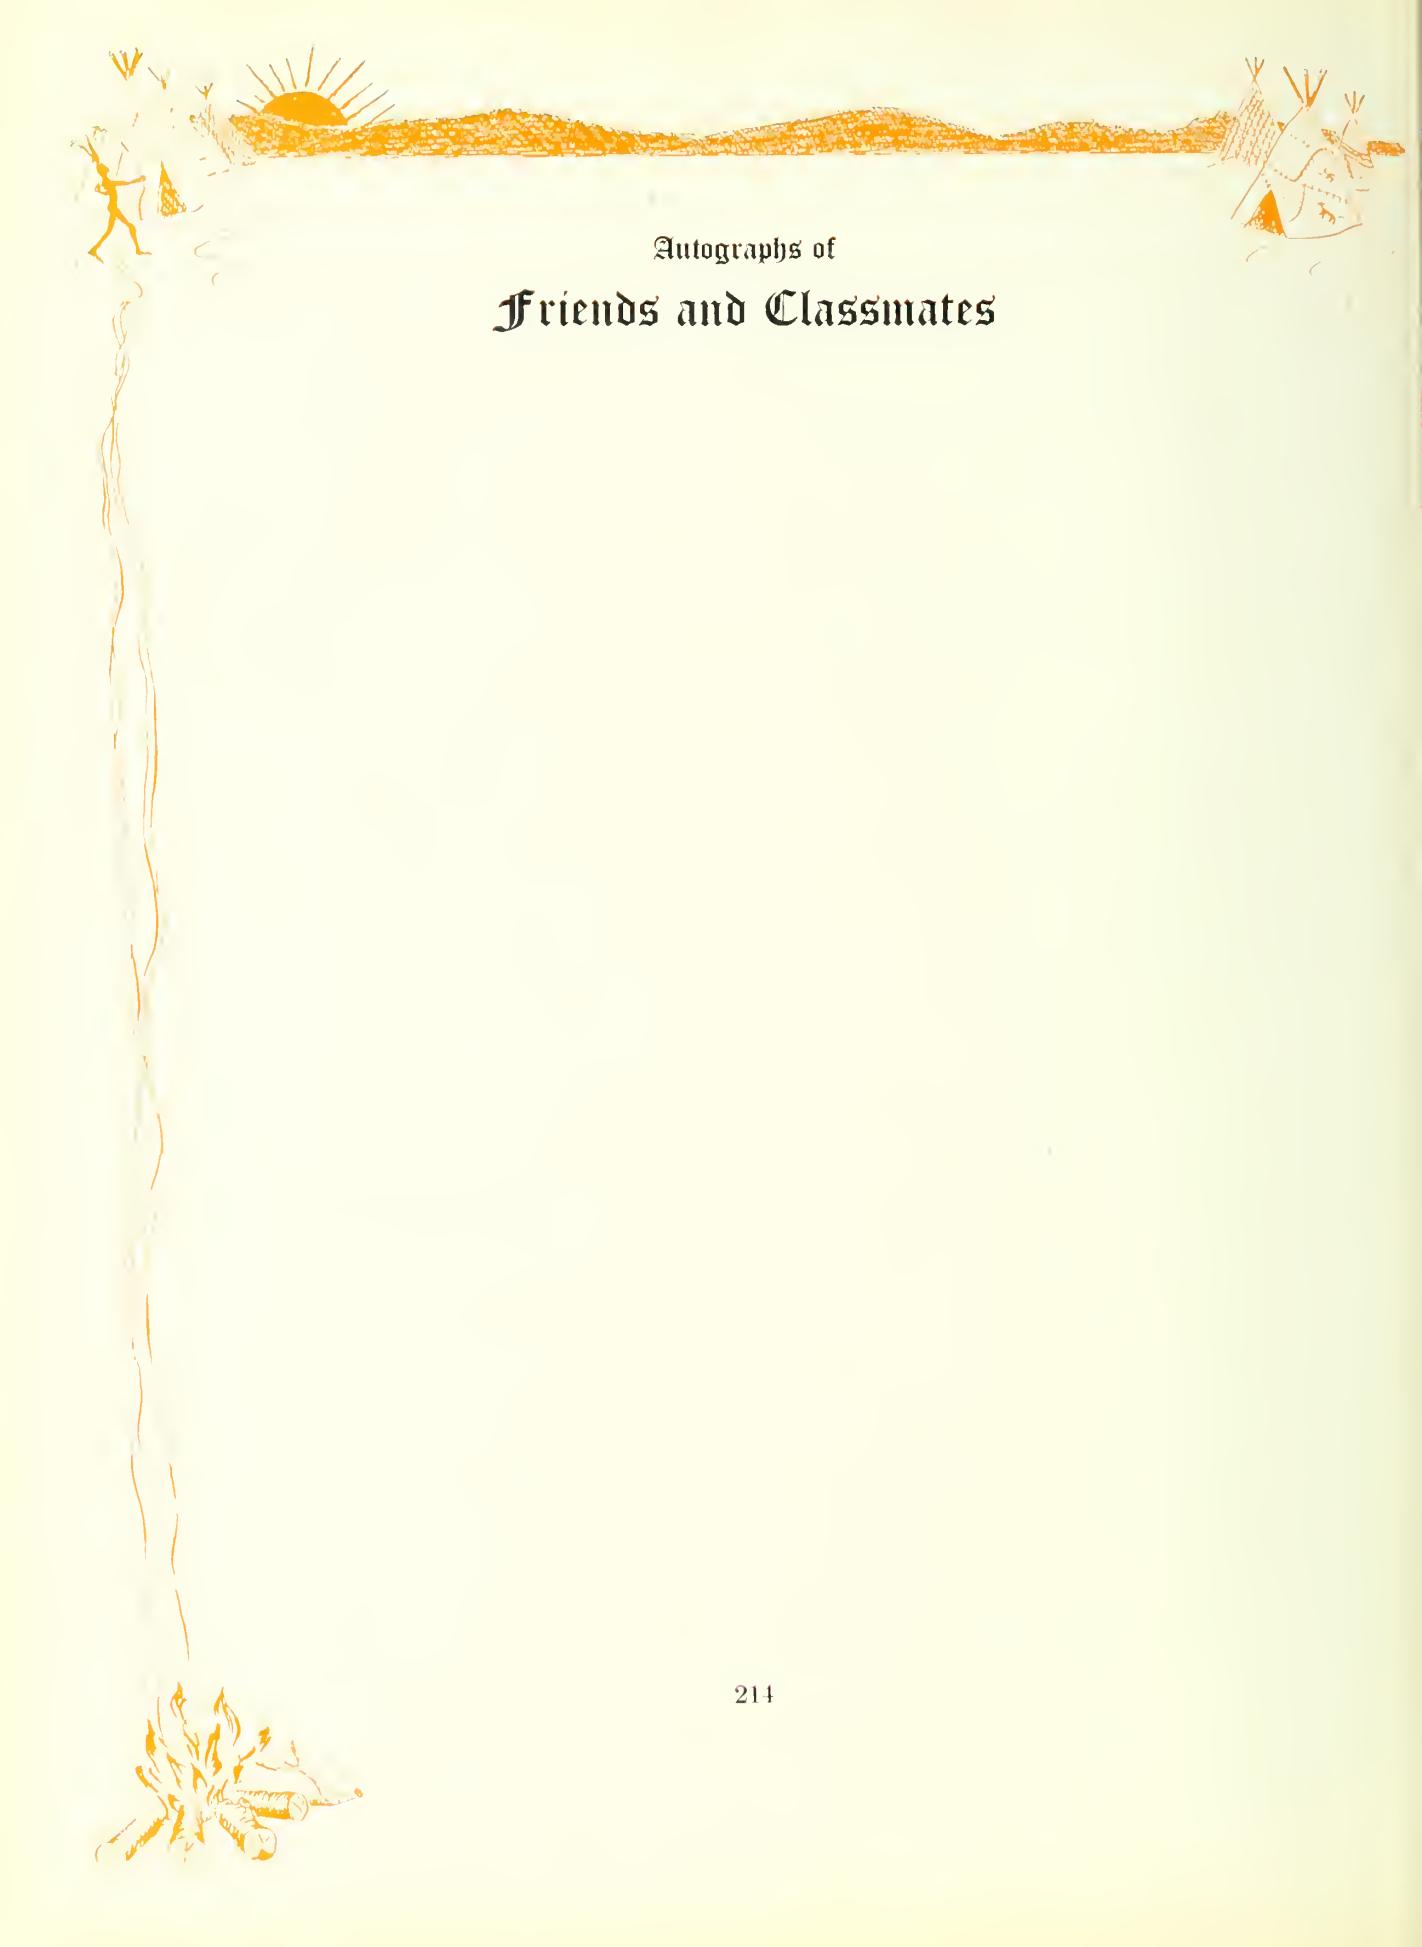

YOU are soon to take leave of the campus which has been yours for the past four years.

The campus memories which you retain will be only those which have made an indelible impression upon you---the friendships you made; the activities you engaged in; the classes you attended; and mostly, what you learned about yourself.

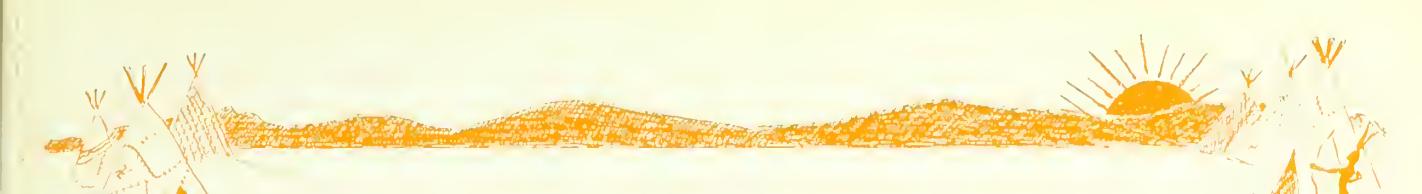

We trust that in the happy recollections of undergraduate days you will visualize the many joyful moments spent at the Cafeteria.

May happiness and prosperity be yours wherever you may be is our parting wish for you.
